Invasion Zero Hour Near, Says Churchill

BRITISH CHIEF PREDICTS NEW BLOWS AT AXIS

Forecasts Heavy Fighting In Mediterranean and Other Areas.

FOES SPEED DEFENSE

Sicily Mobilizes All Able Bodied Residents, Fortresses Pound Le Mans.

(By Associated Press)

Prime Minister Churchill, forecasting an Allied invasion of Europe, declared in London today that it "is very probable there will be heavy fighting in the Mediterranean and elsewhere before the leaves of autumn fall."

The Italians, he said, already are speculating where the blow will strike.

Amid a burst of cheers, the prime minister said the battle of the Ruhr soon wuold be spreading over all Germany.

"As the nights become longer and the United States air force becomes more numerous, our strong arms will lengthen both by night and by day and there is no industry or military target in Germany that will not receive as we deem necessary the utmost application of the exterminating force," he said.

"This awful force will be remorselessly applied to the guilty nations and their wicked leaders who imagined their superiority of air power would enable them to terrorize and subjugate first all Europe and afterwards the world."

Churchill also announced that 40 U-boats had been certainly destroyed in May and said the toll of Nazi underseas raiders was mounting steadily, with June "the best month we have ever known in the war."

Since mid-May, he said, scarcely a single Allied merchant ship has been sunk in the entire North Atlantic.

Coupled with Churchill's hint at the invasion "zero hour" approaching, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden called upon Premier

FDR Expected to Bawl Out Squabbling Aids

President, Disturbed as Two Cabinet Members Add to Confusion, Admits Press Not to Blame This Time.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—James F. Byrnes, the man assigned to unify the home front, today called together Vice President Wallace and Secretary Commerce Jones to discuss their vigorous quarrel over stock-piling war materials.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Official observers today expected President Roosevelt to deliver a stern rebuke to Vice-President Wallace and Secretary of Commerce Jesse H. Jones, principals in Washington's newest and most spectacular interagency feud.

Regardless of the merits of the controversy, it is apparent that the chief executive is greatly disturbed over the spectacle of Wallace and Jones contributing to "confusion" in war time by using the press and radio as a forum to air their personal differences.

Should the two cabinet officers be summoned to the White House—and it is extremely probable that they will be—it will not be the first time they have gone to the chief executive on the same issue. Some months ago, before their differences had developed to the name-calling stage, the two men reportedly brought their argument to Mr. Roosevelt for settlement.

It was apparent from the sharp words Mr. Roosevelt had for newsmen, whom he charged with playing up Washington squabbles and in some instances fomenting them that he is deeply displeased over the continuing inter-agency bickerings.

The tenor of Mr. Roosevelt's remarks paralleled recent charges by OWI Chief Elmer Davis that Washington correspondents devoted too much time in writing about government disputes, and too little in adequate coverage of the war news.

The president conceded, however, that the press and radio were not to blame for the current flare-up between Wallace and Jones over policy in making stock-pile purchases of critical raw materials.

Despite two orders issued to end agency "bickering" Mr. Roosevelt admitted to newsmen that Wallace's statements had taken him by surprise, and he indicated no knowledge that the vice president had submitted his charges to War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes for settlement. Likewise, Elmer Davis told newsmen

SEES PORT JOB COST FROM ONE TO 2 MILLIONS

McGregor Letter Gives First Official Indication of Total Value of Project.

ENGINEERS AWAITED

Mansfield Still Without Word From CAA on When Site Will Be Chosen For Port.

First indication from an authentic source of the probable size of the Mansfield airport expansion program came today from Congressman J. Harry McGregor who said he "firmly believes that the project will total between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000."

The congressman's statement was contained in a letter to G. W. Bahl, Mansfield real estate dealer.

While it was hoped by civic leaders that the tentative $600,000 allocation made to the city two weeks ago was only the first of several government grants for the airport improvement project, no government representative had indicated that more than the $600,000 had been set up for Mansfield.

Congressman McGregor announced the first grant from the Civil Aeronautics authority and is in a position to know what may be in store for the city in the matter of government allocations to put the airport in condition to accommodate the largest planes.

Meanwhile, city officials are awaiting word from CAA engineers who said several days ago they would come here to go over plans for the project with officials and representatives of civic groups and select a site for the airport expansion.

City council is unable to set up funds for the purchase of land until the CAA designates how much will be needed and where it must be. Estimates have placed the amount needed for land purchases at $100,000, but it was pointed out that the actual figure may be less or more than that.

Seize Engineer as Nazi Spy

Erwin Harry de Spretter, 52, left, is shown in custody of a sheriff following his arrest by the FBI on charges of collaborating in espionage work for the German high command. De Spretter, a consulting engineer for American war plants, pleaded guilty when he was arraigned before a U. S. commissioner. His bail was fixed at $50,000, the same as that set for Ernest Frederick Lehmitz, New York air raid warden previously arrested. De Spretter was a lieutenant in the German army in World War I.

Occupies Isle Five Miles Off Munda Air Base

Thrust Enters Heart of Jap-Dominated Area, Details of Action Lacking As Yanks Follow Attu Maneuver In Attack Upon Rendova.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The navy announced today that U. S. forces, launching a new offensive in the Pacific, have landed on Rendova island in the central Solomons within five miles of the vital Japanese airfield at Munda.

The thrust also brought the American fighting units into the heart of enemy-dominated islands, apparently with the hope to wrest the Munda base from the Japs and use it as the spearhead for a strong offensive in the South Pacific area.

The action also moved the advance line of the American forces in the South Pacific 170 miles further northwest of Guadalcanal in an apparent hope to flank the enemy.

No details of the new invasion thrust were given beyond the bare statement that "on June 30, during the early morning, combined U. S. forces landed on Rendova island, New Georgia group."

The move placed an American spearhead within five miles of the vital Jap airfield at Munda, and approximately 170 miles northwest of Guadalcanal.

The new American base is only 135 miles southeast of the great Japanese airbase at Kahili in the northern Solomons, and the latest development indicated an American move in that direction.

Ever since American forces completed the conquest of Guadalcanal, U. S. airmen have been hammering Jap airfields and installations at Vila and Munda, as well as Rekata bay in the central Solomons.

Munda was bombed more than 150 times by American airmen since last fall and the fierce sky offensive has prevented the Japanese from using that base for offensive purposes.

Naval officers said they had no information on the possibility of Japanese resistance during the landing, which presumably was made by army, navy and marine amphibious forces.

It was recalled that on March 27, the navy announced that American planes bombed and strafed Japanese positions at Ugali, on the northeast coast of Rendova island.

The latest move has been expected for weeks in Washington, ever since the successful recapture of Japanese-held Attu island in the western Aleutians.

A naval spokesman said that the landing and possible seizure of Rendova would nullify the Japanese hold on Munda, which the enemy intended to develop into an important base for defensive and offensive purposes.

The spokesman explained that the move cuts in half the distance American forces would have to travel to Bougainville island, the most important Japanese holding in the Solomons.

The possibility arose that once American forces consolidate their positions on Rendova, they could move easily on to New Georgia island the Munda airbase.

The invasion thrust indicated continuation of American strategy which obviously calls for outflanking heavily defended Japanese positions in an effort to spare the lives of American fighting men.

This policy was followed in the Aleutians on May 11, when U. S. Army troops swept 200 miles west of the important Jap base on Kiska and eliminated a Japanese garrison on Attu island.

The American forces now have a toe-hold in the central Solomons which gives them a firmer grip on the islands in the Guadalcanal area which were captured from the Japanese last August.

As American airpower expanded in the Pacific, U. S. forces have extended their land bases closer and closer to Japan's stolen empire in the south and central Pacific.

Early in February American forces seized the Russell islands, about 60 miles northwest of Guadalcanal and early in the spring they took over Funa Futi in the Elice islands.

Navy men have speculated that American forces might eventually seize the important Jap island of Bougainville in the northern Solomons to place airmen within striking distance of the vital enemy position at

Rowland Avenue Viaduct Put In City's Post-War Program

Construction of a Rowland avenue viaduct and relocation of U. S routes 30 and 42 through Mansfield, projects which never got out of the "talked-about" stage, were proposed today by Mayor W. J. Locke for inclusion in the city's post-war program.

In letters to State Highway Director Hal G. Sours and Murray Shaffer, state highway project engineer, the mayor pledged the city's support for both of the jobs and asked what steps should be taken to get plans drawn for the Rowland avenue project over which state route 39 would pass. The mayor said he understood the state highway department already had prepared preliminary plans for the relocation of the two federal routes.

While no other city projects were mentioned in his letters to the highway officials, Mayor Locke said he was preparing a list of improvements to the water, sewer, and garbage departments which "should be given attention as post-war jobs or worked out as soon as materials are available." These city jobs, the mayor estimated, will cost more than a half million dollars.

Plans have been prepared for three of the proposed improvements, the mayor said, including construction of a $150,000 auxiliary reservoir for the city water supply system, a $35,000 sewer project for the south end of the city, and laying of main sewer interceptor lines across the city at a cost of approximately $160,000.

Other improvements he mentioned were a $30,000 digestor at the sewage disposal plant, a water softening system, estimated to cost nearly $200,000, and construction of a new garage for the street department and a west side

HEAVY HOSIERY ALL THEY'LL GET

Manufacturers Say Sheer Stockings Are 'Out.'

NEW YORK —(UP)— American women who went barelegged this summer are in for a shock when they return to wearing stockings again this fall.

There will be little if no sheer hosiery, manufacturers warned today, and the women will have only the choice of heavy stockings or bare legs—and the possibility of catching cold.

The manufacturers blame the situation on OPA price ceilings, which they say are aimed at the elimination of fine hosiery. Some hosiery men predicted women would be wearing heavy rayon or baggy cotton mesh within a month or two.

BOUND OVER

Bellville Man Held To Jury on Shooting Charge.

Accused of shooting with intent to kill, Ralph W. Fletcher, 38, Bellville R. D was held to the county grand jury today under $15,000 bond. When arraigned in municipal court he entered no plea and asked to be bound over.

Fletcher was arrested early yesterday by police after he allegedly wounded Henry Barr, 32, of 207 East First street, by firing a shotgun charge through the front door at the Barr home. After he was wounded in the left arm, Barr took the gun away from Fletcher and struck him over the head with it, officers said.

Fletcher, a farmer, was believed by police to have gone to the Barr home for his wife who was staying there after she allegedly was threatened by Fletcher. Mrs. Fletcher is a niece of the Barrs.

CLEVELAND— (INS) —A statewide black market in whisky through which dealers pay as high as $20 a case extra for domestic whisky and pass the overcharge on to the consumer by increasing prices or serving drinks in smaller glasses came under the scrutiny of the regional OPA today.

The OPA said that agents operating throughout Ohio receive a $10-a-case "rake-off" as representatives of cafe operators' groups. These agents buy the liquor out of state on the open market, the OPA said, and then arrange for payment of the 30 per cent markup.

AWK! MORE YET

Treasury Would Raise Income Taxes By One-Third.

NEWARK, N. J.—(UP)—Asserting the need for "a rigorous standard of anti-inflationary war finance," treasury General Counsel Randolph Paul said today that the American people in 1944 will be able to pay "at least" $30,000,000,000 in personal taxes, or $10,000,000,000 more than the $20,000,000,000 they now pay.

In a survey of methods by which federal income may be boosted, Paul said that neither sales taxes nor increases in corporation profits, estate and gift taxes could do the job that has to be done.

To obtain an adequate increase in revenue, he said, "the nation needs an increase in personal income tax rates—probably also a decrease in exemptions—to take effect at the beginning of 1944.

ICKES TO TALK

Will Discuss Mine Program In Address Tonight.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Coal Administrator Harold L. Ickes will discuss the government's mine program in a radio address over the Blue network at 7:05 p. m., EWT., tonight.

There was some speculation that Ickes may avail himself of the opportunity to appeal to striking soft and hard coal miners to return to work. Reports from Pennsylvania and Alabama indicated that the revolt against United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis' back-to-work order was spreading.

Curtain Time 11:30 Tonight For 'Cigarets for Yanks' Show

Mansfield's "1,000,000 smokes for the Yanks" drive reaches its climax tonight with the midnight benefit show at the Ohio theater.

Curtain time is 11:30.

Fifty cents, enough to buy 200 cigarets for the fighting men overseas, will admit you to the stage show and movie.

Fifty dollars will get your name and address on red, white and blue stickers on 1,000 packs of cigarets purchased by arrangement with the tobacco companies at the special price of five cents a pack.

Between the fifty-cent and fifty dollar seats are those reserved for patrons, persons giving any amount they want over one dollar.

What will you receive in return for doing your part to buy smokes for the fighting Yanks?

You will see and hear Author-Farmer Louis Bromfield and Diana Hale, child movie actress. You will be entertained by the dancing of 50 young pupils of the Speas, Battin and Hogan studios. You will hear music by the Greystone orchestra and you will see three movies, a short patriotic film, a newsreel and a comedy.

Members of the American Legion will usher and members of the Mansfield Motion Picture Projectionists Local 576 and Mansfield Theatrical Stage Employees Local 319 of the I. A. T. S. E., will donate their services. Warner Brothers are donating the theater and the films.

Harold McCuen is director of the two-hour show. Mrs. J. Harvey Dickson is president of the American Legion Auxiliary which is sponsoring the drive in collaboration with the News-Journal

HATRED: Greeks Riot Against Invaders In Athens, Salonika

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Seething hatred of Axis occupation forces was reported today to have erupted into extensive and bloody riots in Athens and other Greek cities as the ever-present threat of an Allied invasion kept tension high throughout Europe.

Turkish dispatches last night said the street disorders broke out Sunday, and a Greek source in Ankara expressed the view they undoubtedly were touched off by the heartening effect of American air raids last week on airfields near Salonika and Athens.

The Axis took quick and ruthless counter-measures against the Greek rioters, an informed Balkan source reported. Hundreds of the demonstrators were said to have been arrested and many shot down.

This source said the demonstrations centered in Athens and Salonika, upon which air raiders last week showered thousands of leaflets containing an encouraging message from President Roosevelt, and in Volos and Larisa, near the east coast.

Other reports to Ankara said the Axis was preparing for an Allied thrust into the Balkans.

A German motorized division was said to be taking up posts along the Salonika peninsula, and a German news agency reported the Rumanian cabinet had decided upon partial evacuation of Bucharest as an air-raid precaution.

New strengthening of the Axis lines was reported too in southern Italy and its ajoining stepping stone islands of Sicily and Sardinia, as well as in France, where Field Marshal Erwin Rommel was said to have concentrated some 350,000 troops in the Rhone valley.

Unrest within Italy has become prevalent, Moscow reported, declaring approximately 65,000 workers had struck at 25 Turin factories demanding release of Fiat factory employes arrested in March for participating in a strike. The broadcast said troops had taken over some plants.

The Nazi-controlled Paris radio, mentioning again "great naval activity" in the Mediterranean, said

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

There was that in my father's voice as he paused which emboldened me to make a comment which held a question.

"But you finally did make him see your point, I know," I said confidently.

"Yes, with Olga's help," he said, adding admiringly: "What a remarkable woman she is,—and the only person in the world who can manage Philip. He is like wax in her hands."

I had a swift, mirthful vision of the simile as applied to Philip Veritzen, guessed that Dicky and Katharine were sharing my thoughts, and then listened as my father continued his tale.

"They will come with Olina to this apartment in the morning," he told us. "Then they will turn the responsibility of her over to me. If you don't mind, Katharine, I should like her to remain here with you until I take her under guard down to the bank. Olga will do or say nothing, of course, to distract her, but both she and Philip are too anxious about the girl not to let their mental attitude be evident. Your poise and calm and professional insight, my dear Katharine, are what I shall need to help Olina keep her feet on the ground. She is in the excited state now where she could easily float out of the window through sheer thrill over this adventure."

"I'll try to deflate her," Katharine promised smiling, "but not too much. She will need some of that high adventurous spirit to go through with this."

"Exactly," my father said. "And now, Richard, have you any plans for the reception of Ruth Hayes."

Dicky cocked a mischievous eye at me. "My wife has," he said, "and I have girded my loins for battle."

My father gave me a speculative look.

"Margaret insists upon being present at your interview with the 'wilderness woman?'" he asked. "Impossible! You never could get anywhere with Ruth Hayes if there were a second person present."

"But she will not dream that I am here," I cried, conscious, when I saw my father look at me curiously, that my voice was suddenly shrill. "Look!"

I ran over to the closet with its drapery inside of the door, and explained to him, as I had done to Dicky, my scheme for being an unseen and undetected spectator at the interview. My father listened gravely, his eyes searching my face appraisingly. Then he was silent for a second, finally giving a sudden nod of approval.

"I think we'll indulge her this time, Richard," he said, "provided she makes it certain that she is neither seen nor heard."

"She already promised me that," Dicky said, "when she staged a rehearsal of this closet scene while you were gone. Of course, being a mere husband, I lifted my arms high in the air at once, making only the usual proviso that she must get your approval."

"She has my consent," my father said, a little grimly, and too jubilant over my victory to mind his obvious reluctance. I shot a triumphant look at Katharine who, secure in the knowledge that my father's back was toward her, lifted her hands high above her head and applauded me noiselessly but vigorously.

"What's the matter, Katrina?" Dicky's voice asked solicitously, while an unholy mirth danced in his eyes. "Don't you feel well?"

She got her hands down just in time, as my father turned and looked at her. But if a glance could have slain, I would have been minus a husband.

"Is this too much for you, Katharine?" my father asked.

"Indeed, no," she said with emphasis. "Your son-in-law is pleased to be facetious. He has been teasing Madge all the evening, and now he is beginning on me."

She had gotten even with a vengeance, for above all things my father dislikes levity when he is in the midst of planning something. But he indicated his displeasure only by a distinct frostiness in his voice as he turned back to Dicky.

"I do not understand," he said, "but it does not matter. Now that the question of Margaret's presence is settled, will you kindly go on, Richard, with the voicing of any plans you have made for the next few hours?"

"The Authority on Authorities"

BEWARE FOUR TRUMPS

When there are six trumps held against you by the defenders you are usually safer if your seven-trump holding consists of five in one hand opposite two in the other than if it is made up of four opposite three. In case you have to ruff a trick in the hand with the longer holding, you are in great danger if this leaves you only three cards there, as one defender is quite likely then to hold a string of four, more than you do. But if you had a five-card suit, you still retain four after the ruff and may be able to drop the hostile ones.

With the defenders' hearts and spades divided in the most likely way, four in one hand and two in the other, the worst bidding in those three sequences above gets properly penalized. That is the No. 1 sequence. Two diamond tricks by the defense, followed by a third diamond, which South must ruff, will reduce the declarer to three spades. He also must lose a club and a spade, so is down one.

Better bidding is that in No. 2, where North shows preference for hearts, knowing the side has the same number of hearts as spades, seven, but also that the hearts are five cards long from the suit having been bid first, so that the declarer may be able to stand a ruff. He makes his contract against any defense, with loss of two diamonds and a club.

Still better is that in Table 3, encouraging No Trumps if diamonds are stopped, but getting into to the proper 4-Hearts anyway.

N THE CAPITAL-- By Raymond Clapper

IDON—(By Wireless)—Whenever I have been ying goodby to American army friends here, have managed to work in a final emphasis e point that the fastest way to end the war keep the air above the Atlantic thick with ers assigned to this air campaign against any.

e bombing news looks good, but the hard fact is that this is a critical stage in the campaign. The Germans are putting up a terrific resistance. It is just barely possible that this is a kind of Stalingrad of the air. Whether we can break through this year possibly depends on how fast we pour aircraft into the American Eighth Air Force here.

Clapper

That the Allied air blows are shaking Germany is beyond question. The Germans are betting we can't keep it up. The Eighth orce lost 37 bombers in two recent missions. an still make it look on the safe side in ntages, yet this means that 37 bombers must here in one week to put us back where we

And that is not sufficient. We must expand orce rapidly in order to increase the weight blows as contemplated. Maj. Gen. Ira Eaker he strength of the Eighth Air Force will be ed by October.

e must also have fighters, for although an ent case is made out for the Flying Fortress its own job, more of these big weapons with large crews can be saved by providing a r escort.

has been already disclosed. Germany has ied her emphasis to the production of fighters. asing numbers of them are stationed in the of Allied bombers. The progress of the bombing offensive depends on cutting down the German fighter force. And the only way to do that is to saturate the air with bombers. We must expand the number of bombers until we can send out several missions at the same time, splitting up the German fighter defense. For instance, in the recent Kiel-Bremen raid the German fighters were all drawn to th Kiel group, which suffered severely, but our other mission got through with almost no opposition. That is a small illustration of what must be done on a big scale.

Almost as important as the bombing of ground targets is the function of the Flying Fortress in drawing up German fighters so they can be destroyed. Enemy fighters won't come up to meet Allied fighters, but only to drive off bombers.

German fighter production is probably increasing. It is doubtful if losses yet approach production. So the next couple of months will be a critical period, determining whether fighter opposition is to become too strong for successful and persistent daylight bombing, or whether we can saturate the air quickly enough and whittle down the enemy. For Germany's fighter strength must be broken before the Nazi oyster is really opened.

That does not ignore the importance of the Mediterranean or of the Pacific. The breaking of Germany will release the Allies' strength for the Pacific. I believe it highly probable that once Germany is defeated, Russia bases will become available against Japan. Only after Germany is defeated can the three great Allies concentrate on one front in the East instead of dividing as now among three fronts, on two of which they are trying to crush Germany.

One hears these matters discussed by the hour. The question is not which is the more important, Germany or Japan, but what is the most practical way to knock out both, simultaneously or one at a time.

AIR ENOUGH-- By Westbrook Pegler

W YORK—Some of our masters talk great onsense these days about the un-Americanism ial and religious prejudices and intolerance as h these were imported evils, possibly smugshore from a German submarine in the dark moon.

r example, an arbitrator in a New York e denounced all such with the remark that it is un-American, unfair and indecent to deprive a man of his job because of his color.

Pegler

It is unfair and indecent but it is not un-American. On the contrary, racial and religious prejudice are common and characteristic among us. Although this well-known national and human trait does tempt the enemy to create incidents which might cause dangerous troubles, no credible report has come from Detroit, for example, to sustain ose charge that the Nazis prepared the situar touched off the riot. The same is true of ot-suit troubles in Los Angeles. These seem e been typical American firecrackers.

are not harmonious or homogeneous people e have a long record of sporadic bloodshed urning in fights between groups who found elves set apart by differences of race or n or national origin in Europe. After the e may find the situation complicated by new ls on the part of our Bohemians, Poles and gians, the children of immigrants, and the cans of German birth and descent. And t certainly the Filipinos and Chinese among ll delight to take revenge on our Japs.

r is it true that the minority group always nocent of offense against the dignity and ce, even the rights, of the majority although s always presumed to be the case. Some- the minorities or anyway members of the ities go out of their way to harass their men in given situations by bumptious and ent conduct, actually asking for trouble, ng that when it does come they will be housed with sympathy by self-righteous politicians and committees of self-important one-book novelists, pamphleteers and the like.

Most of them are, themselves, terribly bigoted against all who disagree with them and promote class prejudice which, in the fulfilment of their purpose would result in a class war and possibly massacres. Incidentally, none of those who clamor so noisily that it is unfair and indecent to deprive a man of a job because he is, to be specific, a Negro or a Jew, ever see any cruelty in the ostracism and persecution whether by subtle terror or physical violence of the American who doesn't want to join a union. There is one subhuman creature who has no more rights or dignity than a beast.

We have had the Ku Klux Klan twice, the anti-Catholic and anti-Irish riots and church burnings, union terrors of more recent date equal in ferocity to any other outbreaks in our history and, with diminishing frequency and fury, conflicts between white and Negro Americans, Gentile-persecuted Mormon and the Mormon in his turn got hunk with the Gentile. There are still regions in the southwest in which a Gentile thinks he has no chance in court if the jury is drawn from a Mormon community and his opponent is a Mormon.

But, although such divisions and prejudices are native and no less American than ice cream soda they are less terrible and strict than discriminations elsewhere.

I have read all the guesses as to the cause of the Detroit trouble and have been impressed by the deliberate avoidance in every case of one provocation which undoubtedly contributed much to the disturbance. That is the popular Negro press of this country which for several years has recklessly, violently and persistently preached race-hatred. Even Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, a few months ago, was so disturbed by this propaganda that she uttered a mild admonition which had no effect, incidentally.

We deceive ourselves if we believe that bigotry and intolerance are un-American. Prejudice flows in the blood of humankind and we have never been free of it nor ever will be.

N BROADWAY-- By Dorothy Kilgallen

cing for Myself

ID it takes all my tact and kindliness not to nt my suburban friends in these days of curbus and non-existent auto traffic. Along those other Gothamites who have clung to ld Manhattan Island through thick and thin, and 96-degree temperature, I have had to p with the tolerant smiles of people who d about living twenty minutes from Times Square and having acres of greenery to look at instead of steel and stone vistas, and who used to say: "But don't you ever get any sun."

llgallen

Now it turns out that the despised cliff dwellers are the happy folk. We can go to work and get back home with a minimum of inconvenience while the outlanders are discovering that those wide open spaces they used to prattle about have turned them into suburban Robinson Crusoes. But we city kids—well, maybe we see a robin outside our window in the morning if we can see a bus, taxi, or subway entrance, hat's a much more welcome sight these gasays.

e theory that New York is just a hick town phasized by the fact that two circuses are g within a boulder's throw of Broadway.

It'll seem like old times (really very old when Morton Downey and Leo Reisman's tra open simultaneously at the Waldorf's ght Roof. The date will mark their first ance together since they created such a stir in the early days of the beautiful Central Casino. I recalled those days the other g when I glimpsed Sidney Solomon, who roprietor of that colorful swank spot, making idnight rounds—and I also thought of the an pianist who created so much attention is piano solos between dance sets. He was a dark-haired young fellow with a big white grin and the name of Eddy Duchin. Now Lieut. Eddy Duchin, U. S. N., on duty on the high seas.

I hope the rumor that one of the town's newest showplaces will shortly become one of our exshowplaces isn't true—but when creditors don't get paid, those reports begin to sound authentic. . . . Still the saddest sight in these parts is the overturned Normandie. . . . Undoubtedly the most revived film of the summer will be "Gone With the Wind," because Clark Gable and Leslie Howard are in it. . . . One of my most fervent hopes is that the war doesn't last as long as I know it will take me to learn to identify all the uniforms. Our own army and navy outfits, summer version, are tricky enough to keep straight, but the military men from Poland, Belgium, Canada, the Netherlands, Australia and England aren't making the identification problem any easier. . . . I wonder why people raise their eyebrows at the difference in ages between Charlie Chaplin and his bride, Oona O'Neill. Don't they realize that when she's 100 years old, he'll be only 136?

Maestro Vincent Lopez tells me that the polka, of all things, is enjoying a brisk revival these days. He assures me that the old folks have nothing to do with it, it's being called for by youngsters who until recently would have sooner requested the bunny-hug or the turkey-trot than anything as antique-sounding as the polka.

My own experience with the polka is extremely limited, but from what I have seen in movies about old Vienna it is one of those lively steps danced in a gigantic ballroom by handsome officers and their beautiful girls, and there is always an insert shot of old Franz Josef tugging at his moustache and beaming happily upon the dancing throng.

All in all, I think I could stand a bit of the polka. It may be old age, but a very little bit of the solid-Jackson—reet—pleat Lindy hop is getting to go a very long way with me.

COAL SHORTAGE SLOWS 'VICTORY VALLEY' MILLS

Steel Output In Southwest Pennsylvania Lowest In Three Years.

(By Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH — War-vital steel mills in southwestern Pennsylvania's "Victory Valley" are operating at the lowest over-all production level in more than three years because of the coal strike, which withheld millions of tons of bituminous coal and coke from the industry's stock piles, industry leaders reported today.

Production was placed at 78 per cent of theoretical capacity by Dow Jones, financial news agency, after a survey of individual companies. The index was 95 per cent last week and 100 per cent the preceding week.

Although only 139,000 of John L. Lewis' 521,000 United Mine Workers' members were idle today compared with 250,000 last week, the steel index had dropped because of delayed effects of the walkout. Approximately 100,000 of the strikers are in Pennsylvania.

The index report came as Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the war production board, and Philip Murray, president of the Steel Workers union, prepared to open a national campaign tomorrow for an additional 2,500,000 tons of steel output during the last half of 1943.

Importance of coal in the war effort was emphasized in new back-to-work appeals to insurgent miners from UMW leaders while "let's go back" movements gained momentum in some strike-crippled coal fields. In other areas, however, the miners' cries of "no contract, no work" and "no pay increase, no work" rang out at meetings of rebelling locals.

The first major break in the strike in the southwestern Pennsylvania's Monongahela valley came last night when the 1,200 workers in the Midland mine of the Pittsburgh Coal company voted to return to work next Tuesday.

The Big Lance colliery of the Glen Alden Coal company, near Wilkes-Barre, also voted to return today. The mine employs 1,000.

DIES ON VISIT

Mrs. Frank C. Gray Taken By Death In Bedford, Mich.

Mrs. Frank C. Gray, 57, of 543 Crescent road, died unexpectedly early Tuesday morning at the home of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Olive Gray, with whom she and her husband had been visiting, in Bedford, Mich.

Mrs. Gray had been in failing health the past year. She was born in Richland county Oct. 13, 1885, and has been a resident of Mansfield since early childhood.

Besides the husband, she is survived by one brother, Ivan Flook, Mt. Vernon, and one step-daughter, Mrs. Richard Gates, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The body was taken to the Jones Memorial where funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 1 p. m. with Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger, pastor of First Christian church, officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

BRICKER DENIES EXECUTION STAY

Rape-Slayer of Cincinnati Child Scheduled To Go To Chair Tonight.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Anthony Treat, rape-slayer of 10-year-old Helen Sellers of Cincinnati, today lost his last apparent chance to escape the electric chair tonight.

Gov. John W. Bricker refused to grant a stay of execution so that Chester R. Shook, Treat's attorney, could present the case fully to the governor later.

Bricker said his decision was reached after Shook admitted he could offer no more evidence than already had been presented in courts. The governor said he did not feel he should overrule any court decisions.

The 57-year-old painter yesterday wrote Warden Frank D. Henderson that he was "not guilty" and it would be "unjust" to execute him, the warden reported.

Treat was convicted by a three-judge court after waiving a jury trial. He is to be executed tonight.

Treat, declared sane by three alienists after his arrest for the rape slaying, served six years of a one to 20-year term 10 years ago for rape of his 13-year-old sister-in-law on Christmas day, 1931. Two years ago he completed a year in county jail for molesting a six-year-old girl.

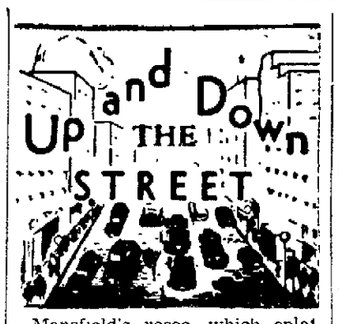
DIES AT AGE 88

Eugene Arnold Taken By Death At Ashland Rest Home.

ASHLAND—Eugene Arnold, 88, died at 6 a. m. today at the Faddis Rest home.

A native of Wayne county, he lived in Ashland for nine years and prior to that resided at Granville. His only survivor is a sister, Mrs. George Oswalt, of Loudonville.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Denbow-Bear funeral home at 2 p. m. Friday with Rev. Frank L. Hicks, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating. Burial will be in Hayesville cemetery.



Mansfield's roses, which splattered the city's gardens and fences with color earlier this month, have been replaced by one of the best showings of hollyhocks in recent years. The red, pink, and white flowers are blossoming along streets and alleys in all parts of the city. Plantings along state highways near Mansfield also are adding a touch of color during the season between the spring and late summer flowers. Most of the hollyhocks grew from bulbs which are left in the earth all winter. The big crop this year is believed the result of the heavy spring rains followed by the bright sunshine of the past two weeks.

W. T. Houston, acting postmaster, tomorrow will have completed 44 years employment at the Mansfield postoffice. He can tell some interesting tales of the early days when the postoffice was located where the Masonic Temple now stands. Days when as sixth clerk and new employe he worked 13 hours a day, seven days a week for $500 a year. But most amazing is the fact that out of his first year 's salary, Houston was able to save $30.

Two Mansfield area gardeners had won four more prizes today in the vegetable contest sponsored by the Richland County Victory Garden committee. Two first prizes of $1 each went to L. D. Ridenour, 597 Cook road, for his displays of wax beans and beets. The prize-winning beans were planted May 6 and the beets April 25. Roy Beck, Park avenue west road, took two second prize ribbons with his stringless green pod beans and wax beans. Winning vegetables are displayed in the Martin Hardware store windows.

FARMERS WORK 13 HOURS A DAY

Hired Hands Average 10 Hours In Effort To Meet Food Production Goals.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Ohio farm operators are working a dawn-to-dusk schedule to meet war food production goals, figures released by the federal bureau of agricultural economics indicated today.

The length of the Buckeye farm work day averaged 13.3 hours for operators and 10.6 hours for hired workers as of June 1, the bureau reported. The work day on June 1, 1940, the previous date on which comparable information was available, averaged 12.4 hours for operators and 10.1 hours for hired hands.

Farm wage rates in Ohio averaged $50.25 per month with board June 1, compared to $40 on June 1, 1942, the bureau said. Without board, the June 1 rates averaged $72 monthly, against $58 a year ago.

The bureau, a branch of the U. S. department of agriculture, said 56 per cent of the Ohio farm population was actually working on farms June 1, compared to 53 per cent a year ago.

Ninety-two per cent of the farm workers as of June 1 were more than 14 years of age and eight per cent under 14. On April 1, 1942, the last date that similar data was available, 98 per cent of the Ohio farm workers were more than 14 and two per cent were under 14.

Seventy-six per cent of Buckeye farm workers were males and 24 per cent females as of June 1. As of April 1, 1942, 84 per cent were male and 16 per cent female.

FIRST BALLOON BARRAGE SENT UP IN NEW YORK

Army Crews Man 50 Hydrogen Units In Strategic Area of East.

(By United Press)

SOMEWHERE ON LONG ISLAND, N. Y., June 29.—(Delayed)—The first balloon barrage in the New York metropolitan area was unveiled by the army today as the band on the clubhouse terrace of a well-known golf course played "The Stars and Stripes Forever" and a group of army and navy officers and civilians watched more than 30 of the silvery gasbags soar above the tree-tops into a cloudy sky.

This unit, with operating headquarters in a clubhouse just off the first tee, protects an important objective.

There are some 50 balloons in the entire unit, scattered for several miles over the area, each manned by a crew of 13 men. The balloons are not up permanently but go aloft only during airraid alerts.

The balloons themselves are of the English type, about the size of a small blimp, filled with hydrogen and tethered by steel cables one-quarter inch in diamater. The cables are reeled in on power-driven winches which raise and lower the balloons at a rate of about 1,000 feet per minute.

The balloons now are so made that if the cable snaps accidentally or through enemy action, a ripcord releases the gas and the envelope settles to earth. They won't drift over the countryside as used to happen frequently.

The "business-end" of a barrage balloon is its long slender cable which is intended to shear off the wing of an enemy plane which strikes it or catch on to it and stick there, damaging the plane in flight. The purpose of the barrage is to furnish defense against dive bombers and low flying planes and to force level bombers to higher altitude with consequent loss of bombing accuracy.

Most of the balloon crews are "limited service" men who take great pride in the snap with which they handle their charges. Each crew lives in its own barracks at the site of its balloon and has its own cook and its individual mess. A crew is commanded by a sergeant who is its executive officer.

Unlike the British, the army appears to be employing barrage balloons to guard specific targets rather than blanketing entire sections of large cities with them as was done in London and other English centers. It was explained that this is because American cities are not under constant threat of mass attack.

ILLNESS FATAL

Joseph L. Brown, 52, Taken By Death at Hospital.

Joseph L. Brown, 52, West Fourth street road, died Tuesday at Mansfield General hospital following a lingering illness.

Mr. Brown was a crane operator at the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company until illness forced his retirement several months ago. He was born Dec. 6, 1890 in Pennsylvania and came to Mansfield several years ago.

He is survived by his widow, one son, Robert L., now overseas with the United States' army; and three brothers, all living in Pennsylvania.

The body is at the Finefrock funeral home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

FAIR or FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(INS)—This is one of two days coming up this year when every man, woman and child—and sports writer—in the vicinity of the major leagues should go to a baseball game. You can't beat the bargain offered today—the chance to see a ball game and to help the war effort all for the price of one. Sure the sports writers pay today, and so do the umpires and everybody else in the park. The ball players, too.

This is the day of the major league's initial big push of the season for the war funds, the day when all receipts go to the fight on the home front, the second such occasion to be on July 28, when the visiting clubs today will stage similar proceedings in their own parks. This is baseball doing it's bit.

Today's major league scramble is a resumption of hostilities after a two-day layoff, while the clubs were shuttling from one spot to the other, the western National league clubs now being in the east and the eastern American league clubs in the west.

In most cases all kinds of extra added attractions have been thrown in to pull in the customers. In every park it will be either a double-header or a twilight or night program, augmented by band music, track contests among the players, wheelbarrow races, service team clashes and other events to add to the color and pomp of the day—or night, as the case may be.

With a break in the weather all along the line, out of this will come some $200,000 for the various war relief funds, with a similar amount expected from the July 28 contests and still more money for the same cause to be raised by the All-Star game on July 13.

The St. Louis Cardinals open in the east to protect a half game lead over the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Yankees make a stand in the west leading the Washington Senators by 1½ game Washington Senators by 1½ games.

Speaking about baseball and the war, St. Louis got a mixture of glad and sad tidings yesterday from a baseball standpoint. Vernon Stephens, slugging shortstop, was rejected by his draft board to give the Browns a new lift, just after first baseman George McQuinn had been turned down.

The Cardinals, however, lost Jimmy Brown, flashy infielder and captain.

Brown was expected to go and the infield has been plugged up to fill the void. However, he will spend a two-weeks furlough with the club before departing in answer to his Uncle Samuel's call.

Stephens presumably was rejected because of a knee injury, while McQuinn's trouble is an old back malady. With these two slated to stick around for the rest of the season the Browns may yet get going and arrive up there in or near the top as everybody has expected them to do

Aside from all this, this is baseball's first big day for the season—the day when the game kicks in.

Commercial Tilts Postponed

Y. M. C. A. Physical Director Johnny Fike announced today that the two games scheduled for the Commercial baseball league July 4 have been postponed until July 11

Fike said the reason for postponement was the fact that many of the players will be out of town over the holiday week-end.

The postponement was decided at a meeting of the four league managers last night at the Y. M. C. A. Fike also said that a best two out of three series would be played at the conclusion of the regular season between the league champs and a picked all star team from the other loop nines.

It was also announced that the East End Merchants will play the remainder of their games at Liberty park. The Merchants have agreed to keep the playing field in condition in return for this favor.

The American Legion team has agreed to keep the other diamond, at the Fairground, in playing shape for the rest of the season.

PLAY 2 GAMES FRIDAY

Two postponed Park association softball league games will be played Friday at 6 30 p. m. Prospects will tangle with Cates at Prospect park and the North Lake team will face John Todd at North Lake park These games were to be played Monday.

Crucial Invasion Starts

It Isn't War, But Baseball Crisis Is Close at Hand.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—The major leagues inaugurate the second of their three inter-sectional invasions today and there can be no minimizing the strategical importance of these contests.

Extra-curricular activities will be the order of the day in both leagues with the entire proceeds of the games slated to be turned over to various war charities. But the final scores may go far towards determining the eventual status of several clubs.

The old baseball axiom has it that the team in first place on July 4 will be the eventual pennant winner and, due to the extraordinary closeness of both pennant races, it appears that the old saw may be disproved again.

The National league, which will have its western teams touring the east, has a closer race than the rival circuit only because of the first two teams—the St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers—separated by a half game, in that order.

In the American league, which will send its eastern squads into the hostile west, the race as a whole is much tighter. The Washington Senators are 1½ games behind the front-running New York Yankees and the last-place St. Louis Browns are only seven games from the top. In the senior loop the last two clubs—the Chicago Cubs and New York Giants—have virtually dropped out of sight, 15 and 15* games behind, respectively.

The Senators, out to grab first place on their western tour, play lengthy hinterland schedule—15 games—as do the Philadelphia Athletics, now in seventh place by 6½ games. The pace-setting Yankees have the shortest tour, playing only 12 contests, and if they duplicate their last trek—during which they lost six out of seven—may come home in the runner-up spot.

Washington meets the White Sox and Browns, each for three games, then takes on the Tigers for four and winds up with five against the Cleveland Indians now five games back in fourth place. The Yankees play Cleveland, Detroit, St. Louis and Chicago in that order for three games each.

The Red Sox, climbing slowly but surely, meet the tough Tigers and Indians for only three games each and then collide with Chicago and St. Louis in four-game sets.

The performance of the Cardinals and Dodgers will be watched closest in the National league. The Red Birds, who will have the services of veteran Jimmy Brown for only two more weeks, open up against the Giants for three games, tangle with Brooklyn for three games, take on the fifth-place Phillies for four and close with four against the sixth-place Braves.

Brooklyn plays host to the Cincinnati Reds for three contests, then the Cards, next the disappointing Cubs for four and finally the tough Pittsburg Pirates for five. On the series with the Pirates may hinge the league-leadership, since the Cards will be playing the Braves at the time.

Conclusion of this intersectional strife will find the major leagues calling time out for three days to meet in the annual All-Star contest on July 13 at Philadelphia.

High Tribute Paid Kinnick

CHICAGO —(UP)— A justice of the U. S. supreme court paid honor last night to the memory of a football player.

In a speech before the Chicago Bar association, Associate Justice Wiley Rutledge took occasion to recall the qualities of Nile Kinnick, All-America halfback who was killed when his navy plane crashed in the Pacific ocean.

"His feet were swift, his hands strong and sure, his eye clear and far-sighted, his mind quick like the running of lightning from cloud to cloud," Rutledge said.

"With miraculous effect he used these qualities upon the field of sport, to the glory of his school and the pride of his staff," the jurist said. "Nile Kinnick will be remembered as long as there is an Iowa."

Four fans, all women, witnessed a recent Northwestern-Wisconsin conference track meet.

Browns' Chances Soar as Army Turns Down Their Two Stars

(By Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS—The army's rejection of Vernon Stephens and George McQuinn gives the Browns their second wind, says Manager Luke Sewell.

What he means is goodbye, American league cellar!

With the return of Stephens, hard-hitting shortstop, and McQuinn, the fancy-fielding first-baseman, Sewell expects the lethargic Browns to step into a hitting stride that will carry them to loftier quarters and keep them there.

"Their return certainly won't hurt us, I'll tell you that," quiet Luke remarks fervently.

McQuinn was rejected yesterday at Camp Lee, Va., because of a back injury. Stephens was turned down at Jefferson barracks, Mo., because of a knee injury.

To date the Browns have failed miserably to fill pre-season predictions of an upper first division berth.

Sewell is confident rejuvenation at the plate will come with the return of Stephens and McQuinn.

"The other boys will follow. We've got potential power hitters. They just haven't turned on the power.

"Seven games out of first place is not so far off pace we can't get back."

History Repeats Itself

This picture is five years old but it might just as well have been taken yesterday. For it shows Patty Berg, left, being congratulated by Mrs. Opal S. Hill, as Patty back in 1938. Yesterday, in a first round match of the same tournament, Patty, staging a golfing comeback after being injured in an automobile accident, defeated Mrs. Hill again, 5 and 3.

Sport Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The clocks will start striking V-12 o'clock at a good many colleges tomorrow and a lot of coaches who have been wondering whether they'd have jobs next fall can start finding out for sure . . . In case you can't guess, V-12 o'clock stands for the hour when large batches of navy trainees will report at the colleges. Ditto smaller batches of marines . . . It may bring good news, too. For instance. Yale is getting Sam Mele and Johnny Simmons, better-than-fair basketball and baseball players from N. Y. U. via the Marines.

A SHORT SNORTER

When Dewey "Snorter" Luster, Oklahoma grid coach, learned that ten of his Sooners were being called up by the Marines, leaving him with only one survivor of last year's squad, Boone Baker, a sophomore wingback. Snorter moaned: "Looks like we're coming in on a wingback and a prayer."

SERVICE DEPT.

Yeoman Morris Siegel, sports columnist of the Norfolk naval training station "Seabag," reports Phil Rizzuto has done more damage to the rival naval air station team "than the Allied fliers did to Pantelleria." In a recent five-game series in which every game was decided by a single run, Phil was either directly or indirectly responsible for every winning tally . . . Marine boxers lost, 6-5, to a Royal Australian air force team in a series of bouts fought recently "somewhere in the South Pacific" for the China Famine Relief fund, but they got considerable consolation from the showing of Corp. Ray White, Steubenville, O., heavyweight who stopped his man in two rounds.

BARKLEY UP THE WRONG TREE.

Wichita Baseball fans insist this column was in error in saying that Red Barkley, the new Dodger shortstop, wasn't a "regular" on the Cessna semi-pro team last year just because he played only half the team's games in the national tourney. It was a leg injury that kept him out . . . Incidentally, Branch Rickey reports Barkley has made himself popular with the Dodgers by cussing himself out when he returns to the bench after making a bad play . . . "I got the impression," says Branch, "that he was—well, kind of screwballish."

Go Six Extra Holes to Decide N-J League Match Outcome

It took the longest extra-hole match of the season in the News-Journal golf league to determine an important match at Possum Run last night, but the outcome kept the Globe Steels in first place in the loop.

Finishing their regulation nine holes of play all even, Carl Rupp of the Globes and Jim Will of the Tucker Furnitures went six extra holes before Rupp gained the decision.

That gave the Globes the match, 2 to 1, there having been one postponed match, and kept them in first place in the loop, one point ahead of the Orr Typewriters.

Last night's matches were marked by two features—a five-point sweep by the Richland Printers who whitewashed the Long Bars, and three extra-hole matches.

Besides the Rupp-Will struggle, Pete Linster of the Printers had to go 10 holes to beat Grant Hanawalt of the Long Bars, and Bill Gibson of the Orrs had to do the same thing to dispose of Sid Mathias of the Smoke House.

Joe Mayer, one of the most consistent scorers, was low man for the night, with a 37. However, his Barnes and Schmid team lost to Gorman Rupp, 2 to 1. The Orrs took the Smoke House team, 3 and 2.

Patty Off Speedily In Title Play

Beats Mrs. Hill In First Round of Western Open.

CHICAGO —(INS)— Medalist Patty Berg, Minneapolis pro, faced the second hurdle on her comeback trail today as she led 16 survivors into the second round of the women's Western Open Golf tournament at the Glen Oak country club.

Miss Berg met Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., conqueror of Sally Sessions of Muskegon, Mich., 1 up in the first round flight.

The sturdy Minneapolis star, who was forced to give up golf for a year and a half because of injuries in an automobile accident, defeated Mrs. Opal Hill of Kansas City, 5 and 3 yesterday and appeared to be headed for the finals scheduled for Friday.

Elizabeth Hicks of Long Beach, Cal., added a martial note to the salute to victory tournament by announcing she would become a member of the SPARS today. The tournament is dedicated to the women in the armed forces.

Miss Hicks, former national champion, disposed of Peggy Kirk of Findlay, O., 5 and 3, and will meet Dorothy Ellis of Indianapolis who beat Georgia Tainter of Fargo, N. D., 4 and 3.

Another favorite, Phyllis Otto of Atlantic, Ia., and Omaha, Neb., defeated Mrs. Harry Sherman of Chicago 7 and 6 and was paired with Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia who beat Alice Bauer of Aberdeen, S. D., 9 and 7.

Two stars were eliminated in the first round. Ann Casey of Mason City, Ia., runner-up for medalist honors, was defeated by Kay Byrne of Rye, N. Y., 3 and 2. Miss Byrne will meet Ruth More of Peoria, Ill., who beat Mrs. F. W. Zimmerman of Chicago, 4 and 3.

Another star eliminated was former western junior champion Jeanne Cline of Bloomington, Ill., who was beaten by Margaret Russell, Detroit newspaper writer, 1 up. Miss Russell was paired with Catherine Fox, Glen Ridge, N. J., who eliminated Eileen Stulb of Augusta, Ga., 5 and 4.

BOX IN HARTFORD

HARTFORD, Conn. — (U.P.) — Jackie Callura of Hamilton, Ont., N. B. A. featherweight champion, meets Phil Terranova of New York in a 10-round, non-title bout tonight. Callura ruled a slight favorite for the fight which was postponed last night because of the weather.

Freshmen are eligible in Western Conference golf championships for the first time in history.

Dodds Looms as Lad to Beat Haegg

Ex-Ashlander In Top Form for Friday Race.

By FRANK ECK

(AP Features)

NEW YORK—If Gunder Haegg is going to be defeated during his tour of this country, cinder track experts say Gil Dodds, the 24-year-old Boston divinity student, is the man who will do it.

At any rate, Dodds, former Ashland college student, is the first of the runners scheduled to participate in the Swift Swede's tour to admit he's in good shape.

"I feel that I am in the best shape of my career," said the bespectacled Gordon Seminary (Boston) senior. "I'm all ready to give Haegg all I've got, and I'll be glad to race him anytime but on a Sunday." (The Bostonian has religious scruples against running on the Sabbath.)

Haegg-Dodds' Friday meeting in Chicago, over the two-mile route promises to be one of those tightly-waged jockeying affairs since both boys like to go to the front after a couple of laps. The visiting fireman literally flies there while Dodds' blistering pace has been responsible for all the fastest miles in this country for the past two years.

Will Run Own Race.

Dodds, who assumes the spotlight as the-man-to-beat-Haegg, with Greg Rice called to sea duty with the Merchant Marine, says he will run his own race. "I won't be influenced by Haegg's actions, and I won't run his race for him. I'll run to win, and if my pace takes me to the lead, then I'll show him my back as long as I can."

The former Ashland (Ohio) College runner wouldn't say whether he felt confident of taking the measure of Sweden's champion but from the diligent manner in which he is going to train for their meeting, he'll make a game try of it.

Add to this the fact that the 24-year-old American was peeved when he learned that Haegg did not choose to run," in the national AAU 1,500 meters, and you have the makings of an interesting duel.

GIL DODDS

"Although the 1,500-meter race was the lone event towards which I pointed this season, I'm going to out to train just as hard for Haegg," said Dodds. It might be pointed out that Dodds recently won the 1,500-meter outdoor title race in 3.50, clipping two-tenths of a second off his time of last June. And Haegg, also 24, claims he has reached his peak. Dodds' comparative times indicate he's still coming.

Haegg's 1,500-meter time is 3:45.8—the world's record. It's a difference of four and two-tenth seconds. The difference stretches to exactly five seconds in comparing Haegg and Dodds over the two-mile route. Haegg's best two-mile time is 8:47.8 compared with Dodds' 8:52.2 when he lost by the proverbial eyelash to Rice in the 1942 Millrose meet in the Garden. However with a little pressing, Dodds should better this time against the Swedish wonder.

Race Pay-Offs Set Records

CHICAGO —(INS)— Two new records for pay-offs at Chicago tracks this season were in the books today.

The longest-priced winner for the season was registered when Snack a juvenile filly owned by the Walmac farm and trained by Howard Wells, came down in front in the first race at the Arlington park meeting held at Washington Park and paid $245.20, $163.40 and $78 across the board.

Those who coupled Snack with Knight Call in yesterday's second race were paid off in the daily double at the rate of $924.20, also a high mark for the season. Knight Call was a 7 to 2 shot.

PHILLIES GET CATCHER

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—(AP)—Bob Finley, Knoxville catcher and one of the best backstops in the Southern Association, was sold to the Philadelphia Phillies of the National league yesterday for three players and an undisclosed amount of cash.

Volo Song Points for Classic

Randall Winner Looms as Best Bet For Hambletonian.

By SAM FOGG

(INS Sports Writer)

CLEVELAND — Volo Song, a rhythmic, muscular three-year-old trotter, today was fully stamped as the horse to beat in the Hambletonian classic after striding away from the field in the $5,000 Matron stakes in the grand circuit opener at North Randall Tuesday.

The son of Volomite breezed to the victory with ease in two straight heats and stood off every challenge made by 10 other Hambletonian hopefuls. The favorite, piloted by Tom Berry who subbed for Ben White who became ill, continued unbeaten in his career in winning the 33rd renewal of the Matron stakes.

In the first elimination test, he nosed into the lead during the first quarter and whisked to a one length triumph in 2:05½. In the second run, the winner was ahead in passing the wire and was never headed. In the opener, Worthy Boy, with Sep Palin aboard, made the winner hustle in the stretch drive and in the second, Nutcracker forced the early pace but ended up two lengths behind in a 2:08⅘ workout. Neither could match the closing quarter dash of the winner.

Veteran sulky fans are convinced that the Song is a good horse and they predict he may become a great one with maturity and experience. Owned by W. H. Strang of Brooklyn, N. Y., he passed his initial test as a three year old in impressive style.

He outsped the field in the opener, making the first quarter at 31¼ seconds and the half mark in 1:03½. He had even less trouble in the second effort, reaching the quarter in 32½ and the half in 1:05¼.

A topheavy favorite with the parimutuel bettors, he paid only $3.60 in his first triumph and but $3 in the final.

Palin ran off an impressive victory in the Plain Dealer stake worth $1,000 with Eddie D. who came from behind to capture two successive heats. In the 2.22 class pace, Dr. Brodie, owned by Horace Johnston, took a $1,000 purse in a three-heat event.

Fishing and Boating Tips

By Verne Jones

The Pleasant Hill Boat Club is to be highly commended for their patrol system and safety work on Pleasant Hill Lake. They look after all boatmen on the lake, see to it that all safety rules are obeyed and the record they have set up should be used as an example on the other lakes. It must be remembered that this lake is the only one where fast boats are allowed—; but no serious accidents have occurred.

It seems that all you have to do to put a boat on Charles Mill Dam is to have two dollars for a license. It doesn't even have to float. On most lakes when you license a boat it is inspected to see if it is fit and water tight and its capacity is determined. If its capacity is three persons, it is painted on the boat and that is all that are allowed in the boat at any time.

It is a common occurrence on Charles Mill Dam to see a 12 foot boat with a capacity of two persons with five people in it and the gunwales almost sunk beneath the water. In a case like this you find almost invariably that the occupants can't swim. Very few of the boats out there have decent life preservers in them and there is nobody to check them.

Also, there have been many reports of vandalism at this lake, something you never hear of at Pleasant Hill where the boats are watched all the time by the club. Reports have come of boats being stolen, or just taken and used. Some people stand on the decks and are otherwise destructive of the boats.

These owners at Charles Mill deserve some kind of protection for their license money. I recommend that one of the Sportsmen's Clubs interested in the lake take over its patrol for the general good of boating and fishing which is one of the finest and safest of sports when properly supervised.

The Pleasant Hill Boat Club is having a fine program at the dam on Sunday to celebrate Independence Day. They have arranged novelty swimming and boat races for boys under 16, including a plank race and a tub race. There will also be a regatta for local boat racers.

A war bond will be raffled off and every person buying a chance will be given a free speed boat ride. The U. E. Local 711 Military Band will play all afternoon and plenty of soft drinks will be available on the grounds. Bring your picnic dinner and spend an old fashioned Fourth of July close at home. The boys are working hard to show you a good time.

We have a new supply of Li-Cut worms from California. It is a white grub-like worm hatched for the sole purpose of luring fish. We recommend it especialy for catching Blue Gills and Crappies. We also will have a large supply of live bait such as minnows and worms for the holiday week end.

Dixie, Bobo Tuning Up

BROOKLYN —(AP)— Songs by Dixie Walker and Bobo Newsome precede the doubleheader between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Cincinnati Reds today—a day in which all major league clubs are handing over the total receipts to the National War Fund.

Songs by the entire Brooklyn club—and songs—also will be on the schedule immediately following the second game if the plans of Deacon William McKechnie, Cincinnati manager, do not go wrong.

On the train ride yesterday from Pittsburgh, where the Reds lost a single game to the Pirates, McKechnie passed the word around to his Athletes that it is "now or never."

The Reds can't afford to lose any more ground. Up to now they have been fluctuating between third place and the lower levels of the second division and McKetchnie emphasized there was no better place to start than in Brooklyn if the Reds were going to creep back into the pennant race.

The Cincinnati team will be bolstered by the return of Lonnie Frey to the line-up. The little second baseman has been out of action for nearly a week because of an injured leg.

In the opening game Johnny Vander Meer will oppose Brooklyn's Whitlow Wyatt. It is probable that Bucky Walters will hurl the nightcap against Curt Davis.

35,000 Expected At 'War' Game

CLEVELAND —(AP)— One sure winner in tonight's engagement between the Cleveland Indians and the New York Yankees is the National War Fund, Inc.

Approximately 35,000 fans are expected to assemble at the Lakefront stadium to contribute to war relief and view both military and baseball spectacles.

Everybody, including the players, umpires, baseball writers and even club President Alva Bradley will purchase a ticket.

Pre-game ceremonies will start with a company drill by the military policemen of the 729th battalion, stationed at Oakwood Country club. The soldiers will parade scout cars, jeeps, radio trucks and display their firearms. The navy, coast guard, army air cadets and WAACS will participate in the parade.

Jim Bagby, winner of eight games and loser of five, will be on the mound for the Redskins and probably will be opposed by Hank Borowy, who was routed by the Indians in his previous start.

Babe Ruth played in 10 world series.

Frisch Selects Five Pirates

PITTSBURGH —(U.P.)— Five Pittsburgh Pirates were among the 25 all-stars selected by Bucco Manager Frankie Frisch for the inter-league contest in Philadelphia July 13.

Each manager is requested to turn in a list of 25 players he thinks is the cream of the league to National league President Ford Frick. The loop boss then selects the 25 players receiving the most votes to represent the senior circuit in the contest with the American league.

Pirates chosen by Frisch and their batting and pitching averages are:

Third Baseman Bob Elliot, .257; First Baseman Elbie Fletcher, .274; Catcher Al Lopez, .234; Outfielder Vince DiMaggio, .256, and Pitcher Rip Sewell, 10 wins against 2 defeats.

Saints Gain In AA Race

(By United Press)

St. Paul was the only club to improve its standing in the American Association last night, taking a doubleheader from Kansas City while the rest of the teams were splitting twin bills.

The Saints beat the Blues twice to pass the Toledo Mudhens and gain top spot in the second division. The Saints pounded the offerings of Johnny Babich to take the first game 5 to 1 and then shaded the Blues 4 to 3 in the second contest behind the seven-hit pitching of Art Herring.

The league-leading Indianapolis Indians won their opener against Toledo, 4 to 2, as Cliff Fannin bested George Jeffcoat in a torrid mound duel. In the second game, however, the Hens walloped the offerings of Glenn Fletcher and Elon Hogsett to score a 5 to 1 upset.

After rallying to take the opening game against Minneapolis, 5 to 2, the second-place Milwaukee Brewers failed to make good their chance to gain on the Indians, dropping the nightcap, 7 to 3.

At Columbus, Louisville and the Redbirds also split a double bill. Columbus used three pitchers to stem the Colonels in the opening game, scoring the deciding run in the ninth to win, 3 to 2. In the second contest, Louisville led all the way, coasting to an 8 to 1 victory.

Tonight's games: Indianapolis at Columbus; Milwaukee at St. Paul; Louisville at Toledo; Kansas City at Minneapolis.

GAS COMPANY SERVES MANY ARMY-NAVY "E" PLANTS

Ohio recently was cited as having more war plants who have been awarded Army, Navy or Maritime Commission recognition for outstanding production records than any other state in the Union. Many of these plants use gas in their manufacturing processes. Gas has proven its value as a war production fuel time and again.

The Ohio Fuel Gas Company is providing industrial gas service to thirty-eight of these Ohio plants in its operating territory who have been awarded the Army-Navy "E," the Navy "E" or the Maritime Commission "M" for excellence in their production records. We congratulate these firms. We are proud that gas service is playing a part in their production achievements and in the drive for Victory.

Here are the firms served by The Ohio Fuel Gas Company who have been awarded the Army-Navy or Maritime Commission production awards:

American Blower Corporation, Columbus
American Rolling Mill Co., Central Works, Middletown
American Rolling Mill Co., East Works, Middletown

SAVE WASTE FATS

Housewives can play an important part in the manufacture of war explosives by saving waste fats in their kitchens. Save all fats that can't be reused in cooking—every spoonful counts. Here is all you do:

1. Strain drippings, grease, etc., into a wide-mouthed can.
2. Store it in a cool place until you have a pound.
3. Sell it to your meat dealer regularly.

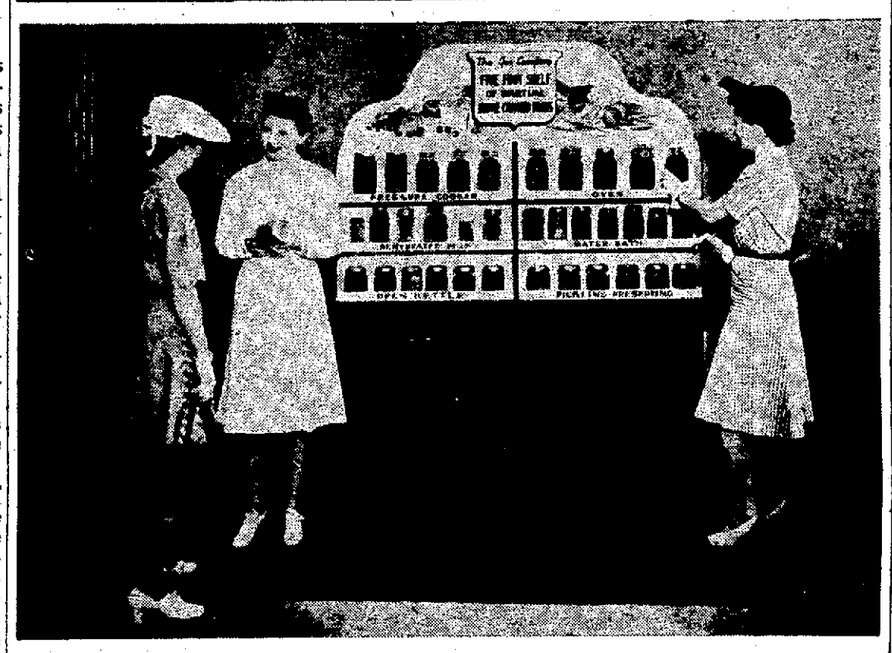
PREPARE NOW TO CONSERVE NEXT WINTER

Now — this summer — is the best time to prepare your home for winter. With another wartime winter facing us, it is going to be important that every family conserve all the fuel possible. It is true, too, of homes that heat with gas—the fuel that is playing such a vital role in war production.

There are many ways to cut fuel consumption in your home. The installation of storm windows and doors, the insulation of roofs and walls, weatherstripping, calking of windows—all of these things not only will help conserve fuel this winter, but, also important, will cut your heating costs.

Conservation is an important word in America's war effort. Apply it in your home in every possible way.

Gas Company Home Canning Exhibit



This attractive and informative home canning display may soon be seen in the Home Service Nutrition Center located in The Gas Company office in your community. Modeled after the famous Dr. Elliott's Five Foot Shelf, it will display fruits and vegetables processed by the more popular home methods.

Housewives of this community will be extended a special invitation to inspect "The Gas Company Five Foot Shelf of Wartime Home Canned Foods" which will be on display in The Gas Company office here sometime next month.

This unusually attractive and informative display has been designed to assist homemakers with their home canning program. It provides display space for actual specimens of fruits and vegetables processed by the popular home methods. This processing is done in The Gas Company experimental Home Service kitchens by members of the Home Service Department. Methods used are water bath, pressure cooker, open kettle and oven canning; dehydration or drying method, and pickling and preserving.

Fruits and vegetables are canned just prior to the height of their season so that the display is kept timely and illustrative of the different methods for processing various foods.

Watch, for this display early next month. Ask about it on the next trip to The Gas Company office.

Nutrition Bulletin Is Monthly Feature

Thousands of housewives are receiving helpful tips on nutrition, meal planning, buying under point rationing, Victory gardening, home canning and other important wartime food problems from The Gas Company's monthly Nutrition Bulletin. These bulletins are published by the Home Service Department. Material is gathered from authoritative sources, condensed and presented in an easy-to-read style.

Here are some of the subjects covered in the current issue for July: a full page of helpful canning tips and short cuts, how to make the best use of kitchen fats, notes on Victory Gardening, a new development in oven drying.

You can get copies of the Nutrition Bulletin free at all Home Service Nutrition Centers.

Complete "Garden To Pantry Shelf" Program Planned

Free Demonstrations, Literature Featured

An all-out food preservation program to assist housewives in their home canning problems has been launched by the Home Service Department of The Gas Company. Every phase of home food processing will be covered in this "Victory Garden to Pantry Shelf" Program. It will include a series of demonstrations which will be given on request before interested groups and conducted by qualified home economists. Individual problems and questions about canning and all phases of food preservation will be answered at the Home Service Nutrition Centers by these specialists. Displays of home processed foods will be featured in the Nutrition Centers. Free literature including The Gas Company's new canning book will be available at the Centers.

It is planned to follow a seasonable schedule with the program extending throughout the entire canning season. Special emphasis will be given to the processing of vegetables and fruits at the height of their respective seasons.

In addition to the more popular home canning methods, other forms of food preservation will be included such as drying, freezing, pickling and preserving. The storage of food will be covered in this comprehensive educational program.

CANNING BOOK PROVES POPULAR

The Gas Company's new canning book, "Home Food Preservation in Wartime" is proving extremely popular among housewives in every community where they are available. This attractive 16-page booklet printed in three colors, contains information on all phases of home food preservation. Subjects covered include canning by the water bath, pressure cooker, oven and open kettle methods. Instructions for drying and freezing, also, are included with a section devoted to food storage. Complete canning timetable charts for fruits and vegetables appear in the booklet.

Housewives have indicated that the compact, easy-to-follow form of the book is particularly appealing. Copies can be secured free at the Home Service Nutrition Centers located in Gas Company offices.

DOUBLE DUTY NEWS MAKES DEBUT

This is the first of a series of news messages which will be presented to our customers in newspapers from time to time. It is a report to you on the wartime activities of gas service on two vitally important "fronts"—your home and war industries. Thus, does is acquire its name "DOUBLE DUTY NEWS."

We are, in a patriotic sense, proud of the part gas service has played on these two fronts since Pearl Harbor. Industrial demands for gas have outstripped any previous period in history. Domestic wants have increased, too. Both of these demands are being met. In addition, we recognize a responsibility of offering assistance to housewives on the home front in their many problems of wartime home management—especially with reference to food and the preparation and preservation of food. Our Home Service Department composed of graduate home economists has been enlarged to better supply this assistance.

Through the columns of "DOUBLE DUTY NEWS" we'll keep you informed on these available services. Watch other "issues" to follow.

Point Saving Menus For Hot Summer Days

By MRS. PAULINE TREISCH
Home Service Department

Mrs. Treisch

Whether you grow your own or carry them home from the market, fresh vegetables are taking the pressure off rationed foods and relieving transportation.

V-Garden salads are a welcome first aid for languid summer appetites. Chop 'em all—raw spinach, lettuce, cauliflower, scallops, snap beans—and pile lightly in those popular individual wooden salad bowls. Marinate with your own favorite oil dressing or save those precious red stamps and use vinegar, sugar, and seasonings.

For a hearty main-liner, serve Sauteed Surprise Tomatoes. The savory flavor of the cream cheese and toasted crumbs will make you forget it's a meatless menu!

SUMMER MENU
*Sauteed Surprise Tomatoes
Raw Carrot, Radish, Celery Relishes
Bran Muffins
Apple Crisp

SAUTEED SURPRISE TOMATOES
6 small to medium firm tomatoes
Salt and pepper
1½ pkgs. cream cheese
2 Tbsp. chives or scallion tops, finely chopped
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1½ C. cracker crumbs, finely rolled
3 Tbsp. cooking fat

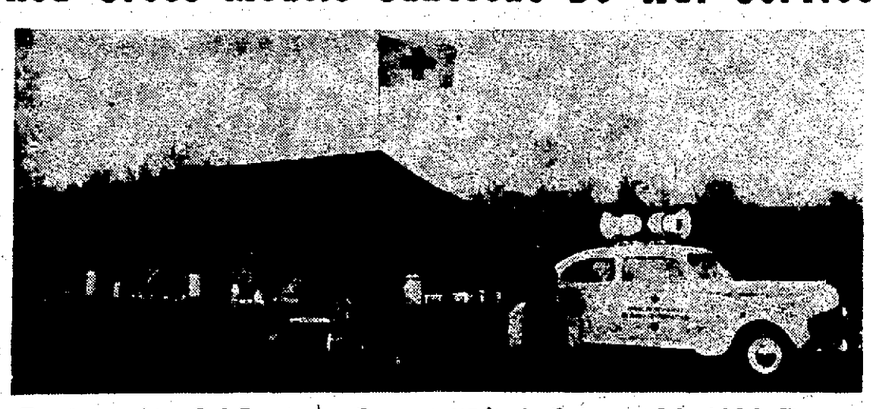
Select firm slightly underripe tomatoes. Do not peel them. Slice each tomato in four slices, saving the ends for next day's soup or mixed salad. Sprinkle slices with salt and pepper. Mash the cheese and work in the chopped chives or scallion tops. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Spread tomatoes with cheese mixture and put together like sandwiches. Roll the tomato sandwiches first in crumbs, then in egg, then in crumbs again, coating cut surfaces generously. Put fat in skillet. When sputtery hot, put in the crumbled tomatoes. Saute on both sides, turning with pancake turner or wide spatula. Drain on absorbent paper and serve hot. This recipe serves six.

LATE FLASH!

CANNING CONTEST COMING

Liberal cash prizes and hundreds of premium ribbons will be awarded in The Gas Company's Canning Fair to be held late in September. While details of the big canning contest have not yet been completed, it will be open to all customers of The Ohio Fuel Gas Company and awards will be made in a variety of classifications. So, housewives, from now on set aside a few of your "bestest" jars for entry in this contest and watch the next DOUBLE DUTY NEWS for complete details.

Red Cross Mobile Canteens Do War Service



Here is one of two Red Cross Mobile Canteen feeding units set up and ready for action. These units have been built and are maintained by The Gas Company as another war service to the communities in which it operates. They are placed at the disposal of the local county Red Cross Chapters. Primarily designed for war emergencies, they are used for trial feedings, canteen training and exhibition purposes. Further information concerning their availability and operation may be had by contacting the local Gas Company office.

LOAN COST REDUCED
ON ALL LOANS ABOVE $150
— EFFECTIVE AT ONCE —

This new loan rate offers worthwhile savings to those whose budgets have been upset by the June income tax installment. Now is the ideal time to clear up all those scattered bills that have troubled you. With only one place to pay, you can organize your way out of debt on an orderly repayment schedule adjusted to fit your purse. Of course, we make small loans too. For instance, $20 for 30 days costs only 60c. But if you need as much as $200, $300, or even $450 or more, remember Interstate's new rate offers you a real reduction on your loan cost. "While you wait" service to those who phone ahead or present proper identification and evidence of employment.

YOUR PAY CHECK WILL FEEL TAX BITE TOMORROW

Income Levy Deductions For Payroll Periods In July Begin After Tonight.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—After tonight, Uncle Sam will take a personal interest in your pay check. A chunk of it you'll never see comes out at the source for income taxes.

Under the new system devised by congress to keep people as nearly abreast of their annual taxes as possible, officials estimated employers will deduct about $500,000,000 a month from the pay envelopes of their employes.

The checkoff will be at the rate of 20 per cent of all earnings over personal exemptions, which are $12 a week for single persons, $24 a week for married persons and $6 additional per week for dependents.

The tax starts with the first payroll after today. However, millions of wage earners will not be affected until later this month. For instance, persons paid by the calendar week won't start missing the withholding tax until next week, because the current week started before July 1—effective date of the pay-as-you-go legislation.

The new system includes both victory and income taxes.

Official regulations released today authorizes employers, in figuring the deduction, to disregard the odd cents on paychecks.

The treasury also told bosses to skip the withholding angles on expense account payments to employes, but advised them to count in any pay other than money which customarily is part of the remuneration. Thus, if an employe is paid $25 a week and furnished meals, the meals also are subject to the tax. The regulation suggested, however, that the tre sury could not put sandwiches in the bank and employers would have to figure the meals on a cash value based on either actual cost on market value. The same goes for employers who pay their employes partly in stocks or other securities.

Vacation pay, pensions, as well as bonuses, also are subject to the act. Exempted from the withholding system are servicemen, domestic servants, clergymen, and farm labor.

On Sept. 15 every single person earning at the rate of $2,700 a year or married person paid at the rate of $3,500 a year, will have to filed a "declaration"—something like an annual income tax return. He will figure out whether his paycheck deductions are keeping him up to date with the treasury. If not, he'll have to pay the difference, on a quarterly basis. A similar declaration, together with an annual return, will have to be filed on March 15 of next year and every year thereafter.

HEARING SET

Commissioners To Hear Views on County Budget Saturday.

Public hearing of the Richland county budget will be held in the commissioners' office at the courthouse Saturday at 10 a.m., according to announcement made today.

Commissioners have requested $501,911 for general operation for the year 1944. This amount was $10,672 less than was appropriated for the 1943 government expenses.

County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said practically all departments of the county government requested amounts corresponding to those of last year.

The Chamber of Commerce today urged the public to attend the hearing at which time a member of the research department of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and district councillors will be present.

DIES AT HOME

BUCYRUS — Complications which resulted from an attack of pneumonia caused the death Tuesday of Earl W. Smith, 55, Dallas township farmer. Mr. Smith died at his home at 6:30 Tuesday morning.

Last rites will be conducte l Thursday afternoon at the Munz funeral home by the Rev. J. David Mumford, and burial will be made in Oakwood cemetery.

PASS EXAMS

Two Mansfielders Eligible for Sales Tax Post.

Two Mansfielders, Will Herrold, 37 Lexington avenue, and Robert Fenton, 174 Chilton avenue, were listed today by the state civil service commission as successful applicants for sales tax examiners' posts in the 12th district with headquarters at Norwalk.

Herrold has been an examiner under provisional appointment at the Mansfield office since last Jan. 1. Other examiners here are H. M. Miracle and W. C. Leonard.

DROPS TO 43

Mercury Takes Sharp Dip and City Hauls Out Blankets.

Only two days after they were sweltering in 94-degree heat, Mansfielders last night looked for an extra blanket as the mercury dropped to 43 degrees.

The weatherman said the cool wave will continue tonight with the mercury expected to be in the 40's again. Yesterday's high was 73 and the average for the past 24 hours was 58 as compared with the normal 71.

Although the sun shone through broken clouds today, the mercury reached only 61 at noon and a north breeze made a light coat comfortable.

GETS SURPRISE

Mansfielder Calls For Stolen Car, Faces Charge.

When R. D. Welty, East Fourth street, went to police headquarters yesterday to claim his stolen car which had been recovered by police, there was a surprise in store for him.

Before he could leave with his car, police arrested him on a charge of driving his car with an obstructed view and revealed that they had been looking for him since last Jan. 22.

The charge, officers said, grew out of a minor accident in which Welty's car figured last winter at Fifth and Elm streets. Hearing of Welty's case in municipal court was set for July 7.

Welty reported his car stolen last week in Galion. It was recovered a little later on East Fourth street by Mansfield police.

'Can Do' Day to Be Observed Here as Honor to Seabees

Send-off to a concerted effort to enlist 100,000 Navy Seabees will be the "Can Do" day July 4 when the nation will honor the Navy's building and fighting men.

Name by which the day has been officially designated is adopted from the battle slogan of the Seabees, men of the construction battalion. Plans for local observance of the day dedicated to these men are now under way, Harry Houck, head of the Mansfield recruiting station, announced today.

Perhaps the most stringently trained and hardest hitting amphibious force in the world today, the Seabees have led or been in the front ranks of every major move initiated by the United States.

Before their entrance into the ranks of the Navy's construction battalions, the Seabees were mechanics, carpenters, electricians and other types of construction workers.

The training program these men follow at training camps presents the same problems and situations they would meet at advance bases.

$500 IN WAR STAMPS STOLEN

Police Also Probe Theft of Cash From N-J Office.

Theft of $500 in war savings stamps and a sum of money from the business office of The Mansfield News-Journal was being investigated today by police.

The stamps were of 10-cent denomination and the exact amount of cash has not been fully determined, police reports said.

The stamps stolen were for distribution among newsboys for their sales to route customers. The cash represented subscription collections.

The growing of hops in the United States started in Virginia about 1648.

'DON'T SAY IT,' TO BE THEME OF CIVILIAN DEFENSE DRIVE

When you're tempted to say something that might give valuable information to the enemy, don't say it.

That's the plea that a group of Mansfield OCD war service speakers will take to clubs and organizations in the city in a campaign scheduled to get under way soon.

The speakers, who have not been named, will remind listeners of the harm that can come from loose talk and against public conversation regarding troop movements, shifting of military supplies, and the manufacture of war materials.

Mrs. John Pierce, head of the OCD war services in the city, said the Mansfield campaign is the outgrowth of a meeting in Cleveland last week-end when government representatives told civilian defense officials that enemy agents and sympathizers are getting valuable information from Americans who unknowingly give away military secrets.

A speaker from the Office of War Information pointed out that Ohio and the Great Lakes region is the Ruhr of America and the Nazis and Japs are particularly interested in the region's war plants and what they are making.

The lives of hundreds of servicemen can be lost as the result of vital information regarding troop movement reaching the enemy, it was emphasized.

Here's some advice from the OWI to civilians:

Don't boast of your brothers, sons, or husbands in the armed forces, mention their military units, or tell where they are going overseas.

Don't encourage the confidences of servicemen home on furlough so they will be tempted to talk too freely of their activities.

Don't repeat statements you read or hear on the radio regarding the armed forces and war program unless you repeat them accurately.

Don't talk about your work in a war plant or reveal information that would help the enemy "spot" a vital industry.

CONTROVERSY ON OWI, OPA BALKS FUND MEASURE

War Agencies Appropriations Likely To Be Caught In Race For Deadline.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — A senate-house controversy over funds for the Office of Price Administration and the Office of War Information today may leave 16 war agencies without money to do business after midnight.

Only a few hours remain before the end of fiscal 1943 during which congress can act on seven appropriation bills totaling more than $75,000,000,000. It is doubtful whether action can be completed on more than five.

Likely to get caught in the race to the fiscal year deadline is the war agencies appropriation bill to which a senate appropriations subcommittee last night restored all of the $47,000,000 house slash in OPA funds and $3,000,000 of the $5,500,000 house cut in OWI funds for its domestic branch.

The bill may become the first order of business in the senate, but the stumbling block will be in conference. There is little likelihood that the house—its dander up over OPA's price policies and over the domestic activities of Elmer Davis' agency—will compromise without long and persuasive argument.

The seven pending bills carry funds for government departments and bureau to operate beginning tomorrow, the first day of fiscal 1944. However, there will be no visible effect unless the deadlock in congress continues for several days. Then congress would have to pass resolutions authorizing expenditures by the affected agencies until the bills are cleared.

But there probably will not be a long delay. Congress wants to start a summer vacation as soon as possible and the prospects are fair that it may be ready to leave Washington by the end of this week—and certainly by the end of next week.

Among the pending appropriation bills reasonably certain of being sent to the White House today were: War department, $71,507,678,873, interior department, $127,889,141 agriculture, $875,680,709, and a second deficiency bill, $46,245,000.

The $1,135,362,499 Labor-Federal Security bill to which the senate restored funds for continuation of the National Youth Administration has a fair chance. Also likely to be left hanging is an urgency deficiency bill which carries $121,000,000 for base overtime pay affecting 150,000 government employes.

The major conflict is over OPA and OWI allotments. The senate subcommittee decided to allow $177,000,000—the original budget estimate for OPA, whereas the house appropriations committee trimmed $12,000,000 from that figure and the house later chopped off another $35,000,000.

The subcommittee also restored important OPA powers stripped from the agency by the house. It eliminated the house ban on the subsidy-rollback program, although the senate has approved a more stringent ban in the CCC bill. It killed the house prohibition on grade labeling and food standardization, and the house stipulation that OPA experts must have five years' specialized experience in industry or business.

The original budget request for OWI's domestic branch was $8,865,000. The house appropriations committee cut it $3,000,000 and the full house ordered it abolished. Even if the senate subcommittee's recommendation gets final approval, OWI would have to operate domestically on a drastically reduced scale.

Playground Data Shows 2,195 Take Part In Program

Total attendance at the city parks' three summer playground programs, at Prospect, Johns and Liberty parks was 2,195 for the first two weeks of vacation, Recreation Director Al Fendrick announced today.

Fendrick said 793 children have registered for activities at the playgrounds.

To increase interest on the playgrounds, Fendrick has announced that a point system contest has been established. Children are awarded 10 points for each day's attendance; 25 points for completing a handcraft project; 15 points for good sportsmanship; 25 points for group leadership; 10 points for courtesy and conduct on the grounds; and 15 points for cooperation with the supervisor.

Points are totaled at the end of each week and children with the most points will receive ribbon awards.

READY GALLOWS FOR TRAITOR

Authorities Prepare To Hang Max Stephan on Friday.

DETROIT —(INS)— Final preparations were being made at Milan prison today for the hanging of Max Stephan, convicted German-born traitor, although Stephan's attorneys still clung to their belief that President Roosevelt would commute the death sentence.

If Stephan is denied presidential clemency which Nicholas Satowich, chief defense attorney, believes will come momentarily, the hanging will take place in the Milan courtyard at dawn Friday.

Stephan was convicted of treason in aiding Oberleutnant Hans Peter Krug, escaped Canadian war prisoner.

HONOR GUESTS

Salvation Army Officials Fete Hoffmans.

Adjutant and Mrs. Paul Hoffman of the local Salvation Army who left today to take up their new positions in the Coshocton citadel were honored guests at a dinner given for them at the Mansfield-Leland hotel last night by the executive committee and board of the Salvation Army.

George L. Smith, president of the board, commended Adjutant and Mrs. Hoffman on the fine work which they have done in the Salvation Army here. He presented them with a $50 war bond and Mrs. Hoffman with a bouquet.

In accepting the gifts Adjutant Hoffman spoke of Mansfield as the best town in which they had ever worked and thanked the townspeople for their excellent co-operation.

Members of the board are Mrs. John Pierce, vice president, Mrs. V. H. Lodde, secretary, Guy Lautsbaugh, treasurer, Henry G. Brunner, John Jones, C. C. Beelman, Charles Hoffman, Ray M. Calene, John G. Routzon, Judge H. H. Schettler, Mrs. O. H. McDaniel, Mrs. Robert Jones and Mrs. Carlton Fernyak.

Cleland says in his petition that he was unable to work for a week after the attack.

APPEALS ANEW FOR WORKERS

Beelman Says More Volunteers Needed To Mail New 'A' Gas Ration Books.

Richland county motorists may not receive their new A gas ration books on time unless volunteer workers are found to help with mailing the books to their owners, Chairman C. C. Beelman of the county ration board said today.

Beelman urged volunteers to call the ration board to give the time they can work or to come to the board any morning, afternoon or evening. The books are ready for mailing as soon as help can be found.

Applications are now being received from persons whose surnames begin with F. through L. Friday, July 2, those whose names begin with M through R are to mail their applications along with tire inspection records and the back covers of their present books. July 8 to 12 is mailing period for the S to Z group.

Beelman also announced today to service station and truck operators that T coupons are not valid after today and are being replaced with TT coupons for the new quarter starting July 1.

SETS CURFEW

ODT Fixes 3 P. M. Deadline For Freight Delivery.

The Office of Defense Transportation today placed a 3 p. m. curfew on orders for truck or railroad freight pick-up and delivery in Mansfield and other cities throughout the state.

Effective immediately, the order means that orders for freight pick-up or delivery must be received by the truck operator before 3 p. m. to be handled the same day.

The time limit will enable truckers to map their routes so as to save gasoline and tires, ODT officials said.

Besides the curfew, for-hire truckers are forbidden to make deliveries or pick-ups without first ascertaining that someone representing the consignee or consignor is available to relinquish or accept the freight.

LEARN OF DEATH

Friends of Mrs. Helen Ocker Learn of Her Demise In Denver.

STOCKS LACK FIRM TREND ON MARKET TODAY

Leaders Move In Narrow Limit as Power Distribution Hits Record High.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Stocks lacked a definite trend in today's early dealings and most leaders moved within narrow fractional limits.

Unchanged to slightly higher at a quiet opening were Western Union, Standard Oil (N.J.), U. S. Steel, General Motors and Johns-Manville. A trifle lower were Loew's Santa Fe and Kennecott Copper.

Industrial front news attracting attention included the Edison Electric Institute report showing power distribution at a record high for the week ended June 26. The sendout was 4,120,038,000 kilowatthours against 4,098,401,000 in the previous week and 3,457,023,000 for the like period a year ago.

CHICAGO —(AP)— Rye spurted about two cents and other grains were strong today on buying based upon agreement by house and senate conferees to prohibit any further subsidies to hold down agricultural prices without the consent of congress.

Wheat started ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher, July $1.44⅞-1.45, September $1.45¼-1.45, and then advanced a cent. Rye began ¼ to ¾ higher, July 99⅜, and then rose to 1.01 for the July contract.

U.S. OPENS NEW PACIFIC DRIVE IN SOLOMONS

Yanks Invade Rendova, Just Five Miles From Jap Base at Munda.

Rabaul, on New Britain island.

Rendova island lies southward of the western end of New Georgia and is about 20 miles in extent in a north south direction.

It is entirely mountainous and densely wooded, gradually increasing in height from its southeastern extremity which is 1,021 feet high, to its summit, a volcanic cone towering 3,488 feet.

Chinese Enter Upper Yangtze Town

CHUNGKING —(AP)— Chinese troops who have been enveloping Owchihkow (Lotus Pond inlet) on the upper Yangtze river front have entered the town after inflicting "several losses" upon defending Japanese troops, a Chinese communique announced last night.

Fighting for possession of Owchihkow was continuing, but the bulletin said the Japanese garrison was showing signs of collapse. The encirclement of the town, which is 40 miles south of Shasi, was reported completed June 24.

The communique also said a vigorous attack had been launched on Hwajung, 16 miles southeast of Owchihkow, and many strategic points in the suburbs had been captured. Hwajung is the last county seat town west of Tungting Lake still in Japanese hands.

Recapture of Owchihkow and Hwajung, if effected, would restore to the Chinese virtually the whole of their rice bowl which the Japanese at one time seemed on the verge of breaking. Both points have been attacked by the American air force, acting in concert with Chinese ground troops.

Japs Ready For 'Australia Drive'

LONDON—(INS)—A Tokyo radio commentator declared in a broadcast today that Japan is "ready to attack Australia any moment now."

He "explained" the inactivity of Japanese forces in the Pacific since February by saying they were busy readjusting operational movements for fresh ventures.

"All the necessary preparations are now complete" for a drive on Australia, the commentator asserted.

Japs 'Restore' Chinese Rights

(By Associated Press)

Signing of an agreement between the Japanese government and the puppet Chinese regime at Nanking whereby administrative rights in the former international settlement at Shanghai have been "restored to the Chinese" was announced by the Tokyo radio in a broadcast recorded today by the Associated Press.

The agreement was hailed by Japanese propagandists as "a major turning point in Chinese-Japanese relations."

Premier General Hideki Tojo, the broadcast said, declared in a special statement that the agreement was in conformity with Japan's Pacific war aims "to crush British-American ambitions of grasping hegemony in East Asia." The war, he added, has enabled Asiatics "to recover their inherent human rights."

FINAL DAY

Use Tax Stamps Must Be on Cars Operating Tomorrow.

Mansfielders planning to drive their cars tomorrow or afterward must display on their windshields the $5 auto tag stamp being sold at the postoffice until July 31.

Although there is a last minute rush to buy the stamps before the July 1 date for their appearance on windshields, sales have been generally slow, Acting Postmaster W. T. Houston said today. Only 6,400 of the anticipated 12,000 stamps have been sold, leaving 5,600 motorists yet to buy their stamps.

The American Automobile association today urged congress to declare a six-month moratorium on the "pay-as-you can't go auto tax.

President Thomas P. Henry said reports, particularly from the Atlantic seaboard, show that motorists oppose paying a tax on the use of their cars when such use under government regulation, is almost at a vanishing point.

PREVENT RIOT

Federal Troops Called As Race Dispute Flares.

PASSAIC, N. J.—(AP)—Federal troops held a crowd of several hundred persons in check to prevent a threatened race riot last night after city police had left the scene in belief the danger was over.

The soldiers rushed here in jeeps from Paterson after an army man had telephoned them that the situation, revolving about white soldiers and Negro girls, was tense. The troops, with bayonets fixed, held back the crowd and directed traffic until the gathering broke up.

matory was John Shoup, who pleaded guilty to a robbery indictment. A term of one to 20 years was imposed on Irwin Adkins, alias Murle Bernard on a forgery charge.

A suspended sentence of 30 days in county jail was imposed on S. A. Futrel, accused of the theft of 35 bushels of wheat. He was fined $30 and ordered to make restitution.

Three were placed on probation for five years. They were Forrest Hankinson, indicted for forgery; Charles Needs and Vernon Swank, charged with grand larceny; and Bill Roush, charged with carrying concealed weapons.

Other defendents who pleaded innocent and the charges against them included John V. Woods, non-support, Wilbur Lytle, breaking and entering; Simon Scott, shooting; Otis Hill, pocket-picking, Chester Lawhorn, operating a motor vehicle without owner's consent; Stella and Lawrence Burrell, three indictments on forgery.

Charles Brooks, of Marion, charged with non-support, failed to appear in court today and a warrant was issued on the indictment.

RESIGNS POST

Manager of Bucyrus Swim Pool Leaves Position.

BUCYRUS — Resignation of C. H. Miller, acting superintendent of Bucyrus swimming pool since the pool was opened here three weeks ago, was received by the citizen's park board Monday night during regular session. No successor to Miller has been named.

Acting upon a petition signed by 100 workers at the General Electric plant asking that morning hours be arranged at the swimming pool, the board arranged Wednesday morning hours from 9 o'clock, each week.

Plans are also under way for the big July 4th celebration at the park to be sponsored by the B club. Highlights of the day's program will include a ball game between two Camp Millard teams, a horseshoe contest, a free act at 8 p. m. and a band concert to be climaxed by a fireworks display.

GETS PARDON

Former O. S. R. Inmate Made Eligible For Commission.

COLUMBUS —(ANS)— Governor Bricker today pardoned Max Kinwald, who was paroled from Mansfield reformatory in 1931 after serving three years of a Cleveland robbery, so that he may obtain a commission in the army.

Kinwald, who has changed his name to Kaye, was only 19 when he committed his offense. Since his release he attended the University of Cincinnati and later was graduated in dentistry from Northwestern university.

Council, however, has taken no action on the program and has not discussed the airport program recently except at caucus sessions.

Volume of Verses Presented Library By Mansfielders

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Dann, 41 Parkwood boulevard, have presented to the children's section of Mansfield Public Library a volume of verses for children written by his sister, Lois E. Dann.

"Children Who Go Singing" is a collection of verse which Miss Dann has written through the years of her association with children. A native of Columbus she is a retired teacher and the book is her first publication.

The poems are woven into one continuous story in the book by little headings and notes about Nancy and Ted who might be any two children enjoying the things the verses relate.

Miss Dann will speak about her book at the meeting of the National Story league in Chicago in August.

The volume is on sale at Mansfield bookstores.

All children from the Western avenue school district are eligible to take part in the parade and entertainment will be sponsored by the parents in that district. Mrs. Warner and Mrs. William Hoffman are in charge of the parade and Mrs. J. Hugh Ward will lead the group singing at the flag raising.

USDA Members Act As Advisors to Holmes Draft Unit

MILLERSBURG — Holmes county USDA board members have been named technical advisors to selective service boards and have been charged with the responsibility of recruitment, replacement, transfer and utilization of agricultural workers, according to Bert Glauque, chairman of the Holmes county USDA.

The duty of the board is to assist an agricultural registrant in preparing an application for deferment, Glauque said.

A form has been prepared for a record of data on the farm, whereon the registrant lives or is employed. This may be secured at the selective service office. It will be executed on the farm by a representative of the war board so that all information included in it may be checked in order that it will be known to be authentic.

The county extension agent is charged with the responsibility of finding replacements for agricultural workers placed in class 2 or 3-C.

fire station. Funds for the fire station were set up under the half-mill fire levy which was voted two years ago.

Long discussed as a traffic outlet to the north side of the city to eliminate the bottleneck on North Mulberry and Springmill streets, the Rowland avenue viaduct would span the Erie and B. and O. tracks east of North Lake park.

The routes 30 and 42 relocation would take route 30 across the north side of the city from the top of the hill in East Mansfield, over Grace and Sixth streets to the end of the new grade elimination job on West Fourth street. Route 42 would miss the city entirely, following a line from a point east of the Park avenue east subway southwest to the present right-of-way at the top of Sand hill on the Lexington avenue road.

Mayor Locke said most of the city improvements he mentioned have been discussed with council committees during recent years, but little had been done to carry them to completion. He said he would bring his list of proposed jobs before council again at caucus sessions and committee meetings.

that he had not received advance information of the Wallace charges.

Asked if government agency squabbles were the fault of the press, Mr. Roosevelt declined to place the blame, but he declared that the war effort had been impeded because of them.

Mrs. FDR Would Like To Tell More, She Says

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt told the Women's National Press club of which she is an honorary member last night that her relationships with feminine capital reporters were "very pleasant," but that she was not satisfied "that I get all that I should out of my conferences."

"I am sorry that the reporters could not make me a better conveyor of ideas and of information and of thoughts that they could make use of," she said.

Anti-Subsidy Bill Goes To House

WASHINGTON—(AP)— Legislation to outlaw the administration's subsidy-rollback program started through congress anew today in the form of a reconditioned version of senate and house bills prohibiting government expenditures to keep retail food prices down.

Regarded as almost certain to set off another subsidy wrangle, the hybrid bill went to the house on the heels of a War labor board warning that its stabilization program "calls for a prompt carrying forward of the announced policies of the administration affecting the cost of food."

Turned out by a senate-house conference committee last night after nearly seven hours of work, the measure contains virtually all of the anti-subsidy provisions of each bill but permits expenditures up to $150,000,000 to finance present methods of subsidizing increased transportation costs, production of critical metals and output of war essential food products.

The restriction, designed to end the subsidy-rollback on retail prices of meats and butter, was written into a bill giving the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) two more years of life and adding $750,000,000 to its present $2,650,000,000 lending power.

ZERO HOUR FOR INVASION NEAR, SAYS CHURCHILL

Predicts New Blow at Axis, Spread of Bombings Over Germany.

Mussolini to surrender unconditionally "in the interests of humanity."

Axis broadcasts again reported great Allied naval activity in the Mediterranean and declared Italy was on the eve of being invaded.

Everywhere along the southern ramparts of Hitler's Europe, from the Salonika peninsula in Greece to the French Mediterranean coast, German troops were reported feverishly rushing preparations to combat an expected Allied grand assault.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said Italy had ordered the mobilization of every able-bodied resident of Sicily because of the "inevitability of Allied invasion."

Private telephone and telegraph communications were said to have been cut between the Italian mainland and Sicily and Sardinia.

In London, Eden told the house of commons:

"I think it would be in the interests of humanity if Signor Mussolini was to realize that the best thing he can do for his country is to accept the unconditional surrendered terms offered him."

Eden also declared that Britain had made no approach to Italy on the question of bombing Rome and did not intend to do so. Asked if the responsibility should not be placed on Mussolini for not proclaiming Rome an open, undefended city to prevent possible bomb damage to ancient monuments in the eternal city, Eden replied:

"I think the responsibility is clear enough. No one invited Signor Mussolini to attack France and no one invited him to send his bombers to bomb London."

The house cheered.

Meanwhile, fresh ruins were left smouldering in southern Italy in the wake of an attack by RAF heavy bombers on the mainland ferry terminus at Reggio Calabria, across the narrow strait of Messina from bomb-torn Sicily.

Allied headquarters announced that night-flying RAF Wellingtons from North Africa also listed the Sicilian port of Messina, hitting the Verry terminal and Marshalling yards.

In northern Europe, a big force of U. S. Flying Fortresses carried the British-based aerial offensive against the continent into its 11th successive day last evening with a raid on Le Mans, France, 130 miles southwest of Paris. It was the fourth American thrust in five days.

Le Mans (Pop. 80,000) is the site of chemical industries and a large airplane engine works.

Escorted by heavily-gunned new American Thunderbolt fighters, the Fortresses shot down a number of enemy aircraft and returned to base without loss.

While Britain had another raid-free night, marking five straight days without a single enemy aircraft having been spotted over the United Kingdom, RAF fighter-bombers tore into a convoy of six enemy vessels off Dunkerque and damaged three of them.

The RAF's giant block-buster fleets apparently stayed at home after Monday night's double-barreled smash at Cologne and Hamburg.

Emphasizing the magnitude of the bomb war against Germany, Capt. Sir Harold H. Balfour, undersecretary of state for air, told parliament the RAF was showering explosives on the Reich at three times the 1942 rate. In the three-month period ending June 26, he said, the RAF dropped 37,500 tons of bombs on Germany compared with 12,000 tons in the corresponding period a year ago.

Other events at-a-glance:

RUSSIA—Soviet troops capture strongly-defended hill, smash Nazi base in hand-to-hand fighting on northwest front; Berlin reports "comparatively strong" Red army attack below Staraya Russa and around Velikie Luki; Russian planes set 15 fires at German-held Orel.

CORONADO, Calif. — Navy Secretary Knox warns Allies face three to four years more of war.

CHINA—Chinese troops storm two Japanese bases in drive to restore vital rice bowl lands, enter Ochihkow on Upper Yangtze river.

With the Germans nervously forecasting July 3 as "der tag" for an Allied invasion, inside Europe heard that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel has massed 350,000 troops in the Rhone river valley to guard France's Mediterranean shores and that Nazi motorized forces were taking up positions along the Salonika peninsula in Greece.

A Nazi-controlled Paris broadcast again stressed huge-scale Allied naval movements in the Mediterranean and gloomily declared: 'Nobody believes any longer that Italy will be the sole target."

Dispatches from Turkey said Greece patriots, heartened by messages dropped from American warplanes, had struck against the Germans in a series of bloody street riots in Athens, Salonika and two other mainland cities in Greece.

Hundreds of demonstrators were reported to have been arrested and many shot down as the Germans ruthlessly sought to crush a possible open revolt.

Deny Nazis Leave Russian Front

MOSCOW — (AP) — The Communist newspaper Pravda asserted today Germany had a total strength of 211 divisions on the Russian front and that no divisions had been shifted from that front to other theaters of operation by the reich's high command.

Pravda challenged a report emanating from London underground sources that 50 German divisions had been ordered from the Soviet front to bolster defenses elsewhere in Europe in anticipation of an Allied invasion of Europe.

GIVEN RAISE

Kroger Clerks' Pay to Start at $20 Weekly.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Approval of a new wage schedule covering 496 clerks employed in 101 Ohio stores of the Kroger Grocery and Banking company was announced today by Ray M. Suter, wage stabilization director of the regional war labor board.

Both the company and the AFL retail clerks international protective association agreed upon the new schedule, which is retroactive to last March 17 and provides a starting wage of $20 a week for full-time clerks.

"nobody believes any longer that Italy will be the sole target." The Germans apparently backed this view, for Tass said they were continuing to clear the Belgian coast of everyone who might aid invasion forces.

The Fascists, trying to step up Italy's defenses, have been forced to resort to their old-time castor oil cure, the German Transocean correspondent in Rome reported in a broadcast heard by the Associated Press. A purge of the Fascist party also is "wide open," he said.

"The morale of the Italian people has been strengthened after a few weeks of this action," this correspondent declared.

TWO INJURED

Loudonville Resident Suffers Possible Skull Fracture.

Two persons were injured, one seriously, early today in an accident one mile north of Perrysville on State Route 39, state patrolmen reported.

Denzil Hawkins, Loudonville, a passenger in a car driven by Glenn R. Wise, 24, Loudonville, was treated by a Perrysville physician for a possible fractured skull and severe lacerations. He was taken to his home where his condition was reported "fair."

Wise was treated for chest bruises. His condition this morning was reported "good."

According to officers, a car driven by John W. Butler, Glenmont, sideswiped Wise's car, causing it to turn over. Butler escaped injury.

'BOY COLONEL' RULES AIRMEN 'DOWN UNDER'

Col. R. E. Beebe, Jr., Aide To MacArthur and Kenney, Knows Stuff.

(By International News Service)

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA —Chief of operations for Lieut.-Gen. George Kenney's Fifth American air force and for General MacArthur's Allied air forces is able, youthful Colonel Royden E Beebe, jr., of Burlington, Vt., and Tampa, Fla.

At thirty-four years of age one of the youngest full colonels in the U. S. army, Beebe is a command pilot and graduate of the General Staff College, as well as a recognized expert on American fighter tactics.

Originally brought to Australia to be chief weather officer of the air forces in the southwest Pacific, Beebe was made deputy chief of the air staff and director of operations last September.

As such, he conceives the broad tactical strategy which has resulted in so many victories for MacArthur's airmen.

Beebe is the son of Brig. Gen Royden Beebe, now commander of U S army forces at Ft Jackson, Columbia, S. C. The colonel was graduated from West Point in 1931, and assigned to duty in the Hawaiian department.

There his closest friend was the late Colonel Demas Craw, who recently was posthumously awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor by President Roosevelt for extraordinary heroism during the opening phases of the North African campaign

Even a decade ago, Beebe and Craw were not satisfied with the methods practiced by most aviators to end their lives expeditiously.

On the afternoon of February 13, 1934 while maneuvering off Diamond Head, Craw's fighter collided with Beebe's at 12,000 feet Beebe was able to tear himself loose from his jammed cockpit at 1 900 feet, Craw having safely bailed out some 9,000 feet earlier

As somewhat vicious "revenge," two weeks later to the day, Beebe accidentally knocked Craw off his horse during a polo game at Schofield Barracks, scoring a "direct hit" on Craw with the swift-moving willow pellet.

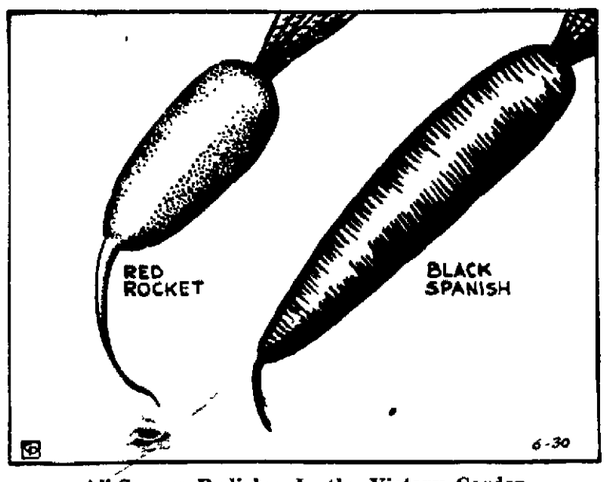
Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH



All-Season Radishes In the Victory Garden.

By DEAN HALLIDAY
(Released by Central Press Ass'n.)

Radishes are not particular as to soil. They do grow better, however, with the addition of a quick-acting fertilizer. To be of good quality radishes must be grown quickly and also they must not be overgrown. Seeds can be sown out-of-doors from April to September. While radishes are considered the easiest and quickest vegetable to grow, during the hot months they grow slowly, get stringy and strong flavored unless protected with a light shade such as cheesecloth will afford when used as a covering

Formerly most home gardeners only grew the early round varieties of radishes, but today there are many types to choose from. round, oval and long varieties Illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph is Red Rocket, a popular oval variety. Its color is a deep scarlet, and the flesh is crisp and mild flavored.

Each year more gardeners are becoming acquainted with the winter varieties of radishes. These winter radishes grow to enormous size They can be eaten raw or cooked like turnips Illustrated in the Garden-Graph is the Long Black Spanish radish which is white inside, with flesh which is solid, crisp and pungent in flavor.

The winter radishes take two to three months to mature. They will keep all winter if stored in a cool cellar. Other winter varieties of radishes include White Russian, Chinese Scarlet, Deep Scarlet Panier and Celestial.

RUNS A DAILY DEEP IN TEXAS

Air Forces Flying School Operates Newspaper In Isolated Area.

(By United Press)

MARFA, Tex.—A special war news summary wirelessed from Washington has enabled the AAF Advanced Flying school here in this sparsely-populated region to begin publishing the only daily newspaper in an area twice the size of New England.

Although it is only a mimeographed sheet, local publishers said it is the first daily newspaper of any kind to be established within a 200-mile radius in the Big Bend-Davis Mountains area of western Texas, where 100,000-acre cattle and sheep ranches are common. The area in this radius is double that of the combined states of Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

The paper makes unique use of a war news report inaugurated by the special service division of the army services forces, which believes that informed soldiers make better fighters.

It's a morning paper, published every day except Sunday, at this twin-engine pilot training school located 60 miles from the Rio Grande river The sheet is called "Marfacts Radio News," after the school's weekly, "Marfacts" (Facts and Acts of the Marfa Advanced Flying School)

"Marfacts Radio News" may not have the bustling foreign news desk of a metropolitan daily, but it does boast the latest war news—creamed off the combined dispatches of the United Press, Associated Press, International News Service and Transradio Press On the local side, the paper breaks first news of USO camp shows and dances, gains at the Post Exchange, cial attractions at the theater and other post items.

The nearest contemporary dailies on the south are the Spanish-language "El Heraldo," "El Tomochic" and "La Voz," all of Chihauhau, Mexico.

23 Fifinellas Now Ferrying Planes In U. S.

NEW YORK—(U P)—The factory-esh combat plane, clean in a new oat of olive paint, slips into the rmy airfield in an easy glide—nd out steps a trim Fifinella owdering her nose, perhaps, as e strides across the taxi strip to eport delivery of another fighting ane from the factory.

The ferrying Fifinellas—so called because of their official emblem the female Gremlin—have taken an increasing proportion of domestic ferrying duties from military fliers physically able to handle planes in combat, according to an article by Barbara Selby in the current issue of "Flying."

She says that the initial group 23 women fliers, led by Jacqueline Cochran, are now flying om bases at Dallas, Tex; Wilmington, Del, and Long Beach, al. The program, which trains student fliers at Sweetwater ex., is so new that the girls still ave no uniform. For graduation e first Fifinellas wore khaki acks, overseas caps and white ng-sleeved blouses.

Miss Selby claims hundreds of omen between 21 and 35, able to ass army air force physicals, are ow following the first graduates ach student earns $150 a month hile training, and steps up to 50 a month base pay after asgnment to ferry duty.

AMERICANS ARE STILL THE BEST NOURISHED PEOPLE ON EARTH—and there's a Reason

Our food may be stretched out these days to share with the peoples of the United Nations, but thanks to new scientific developments in animal feeding, our feathered and four-legged armies are being greatly improved in quality and propagation.

To tiny yeast cells goes much of the credit, because brewer's yeast is the source of the vitamins used to fortify feed mixtures. Now, when you eat meat raised on vitamin-fortified feeds, you're getting nutrition plus.

Anheuser-Busch is America's biggest supplier of yeast vitamins for cattle and poultry feeds. Our large-scale production of natural vitamins is another achievement that resulted from years of research and laboratory work in producing the world's most popular beer.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 30, 1943.

Anyway, arm-chair traveling helps to develop the imagination.

The imaginary "encirclement," against which Hitler ranted, now seems to be developing into a reality.

Something of value may be learned from the fact that all the boys who come home on furlough from training camps appear huskier and more self-reliant than when they left.

Wallace-Jones Row Disturbs FDR

TEMPERS flared in high circles of the nation's capital yesterday, but—fortunately—the rioting was confined to hurling verbal brickbats rather than bringing resort to physical violence, as might easily have been the case with less inhibited individuals.

Dignified Vice President Henry A. Wallace, proponent of hemispheric good neighborliness, let loose a heavy barrage against Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones, whom he charged with "obstructionist tactics" and harmful misrepresentations in matters relating to supplies of strategic war materials.

Jones angrily snapped back that Wallace was guilty of "malice and misstatements" and demanded a congressional investigation to reveal actual conditions.

Ordinarily suave and cheerful President Roosevelt was obviously perturbed by the new flare-up in his official family circle, which he admitted, came as a surprise to him and which he almost immediately blamed on the newspapers.

It was as early as last August that Mr. Roosevelt had instructed subordinates to avoid airing their scraps in public and instructed them to bring their troubles to him for settlement. He indicated yesterday that he thought his "polite suggestion" of last year was still a good one.

The president, in his renewed attack on "the newspapers," charged them with being responsible for spread of the impression throughout the nation that "many internecine conflicts were raging in the capital."

In this arraignment he apparently lost sight of the fact that freedom of the press, and truth in reporting, places responsibility on newspapers to keep the public informed as to existing conditions—pleasant or unpleasant—and that bickering, dissension and bureaucratic bungling in official circles are matters regarding which the people of a democracy have a right to learn, so that they may act to correct administrative weaknesses.

The newspapers would like it much better if they could report to the nation that the federal government is being competently and economically operated, with choice of departmental administrators made on the basis of efficiency and experience rather than under the influence of political expediency. BUT THEY RECOGNIZE AN OBLIGATION TO TELL THE TRUTH.

Three Years of Fine Leadership

MUCH creditable work has been done in Mansfield by the Salvation Army, comparatively little of which becomes known to the public, but the departure of Adjutant and Mrs. Paul Hoffman, who have been in charge at the local citadel for the past three years, merits recognition of the fine service they have performed during their stay here.

In addition to the commonly understood functions of the Salvation Army, as it reaches a helping hand to those in need of physical, mental or spiritual aid, the Hoffmans have shown special concern for the welfare of neglected children, including those classed as juvenile delinquents, and in their own quiet way have aided in solving the problems of many unfortunate children in this community.

In addition, they followed a course which they found successful elsewhere and organized a youths' band as a part of the citadel activities. "Teach a boy to blow a horn," said Adjutant Hoffman," and he'll not be likely to get into serious trouble."

Then there is the recreational program they developed in connection with training courses for blind residents of this community—which has proved highly successful and greatly appreciated by participants.

Welcoming Major and Mrs. Victor Doughty as new leaders of the Salvation Army in Mansfield, they may feel assured that they have a strong foundation upon which to build further, and that there is need in this community for more of the kind of work that justifies the existence of their organization.

War Reveals American Flexibility

THE STORY of the last Hudson bomber to roll off the Lockheed assembly line the other day serves to illustrate the swiftness with which changes have been made since the war began. The Hudson was the first American warplane to fight in this war, and was the first and only plane ever to capture a Nazi submarine. It was designed for reconnaissance and patrol duty, but has been used as a dive bomber, medium range bomber, mast-high raider, skip-raider, sub-buster and escort fighter.

Now the last of the great Hudsons comes to the end of the line, and production of them stops. The new, larger Vega Ventura takes its place. The Ventura is called a "big brother of the Hudson," and is now in quantity production.

Tanks, also, have met with many changes. Rifles, too, and uniforms, and dozens of other articles. Army, navy and marine supply officers have kept production flexible. If one form of ordnance, plane, or food-kit showed itself not suited to this modern warfare, it has been superseded by some other form. Flexibility of design and production have always been characteristic of the American mind.

Military Man for Viceroy

BY APPOINTING Marshal Wavell viceroy of India, Great Britain breaks with its usual rule of appointing some prominent, political figure. Lord Halifax, the British ambassador to Washington, is a former viceroy. The change may be due to the fact that the statesmen have not done a good job in governing India, or to a feeling that the most pressing task just now is military—the defense of the country against Japan.

Wavell is not the first British general to rule India. One military predecessor has a peculiar interest for Americans. He was the Lord Cornwallis whose surrender to Washington at Yorktown ended the Revolution. This surrender was not altogether Cornwallis' fault, and did not keep him from becoming governor-general of India, as the office was known then, not only once, but three times. As such, he did well both in the field and as a reforming ruler.

DISAGREEMENT BETWEEN MELON EXPERTS

Coal Production Lag May Delay Effective Thrust Against Hitler

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

WHEN I came out of the far-northern Maine woods last week-end, after being cut off from news during a fortnight's fishing vacation in the wilds, naturally the first thing I demanded was what the main development of the war had been during that period, and the quick answer was:

"The coal miners are going back to work."

Characterization of a coal mining situation as the biggest current news of the war had an odd ring in the ear, but undoubtedly that appraisal was the correct one. Continuance of the coal stoppage would represent a major disaster. We have been treading dangerously close to the edge of a precipice.

The trend of the operations in all theaters now depends on production and transportation. Invasions hinge on the availability of equipment and supplies in the fighting zones.

The next two months are likely to go far towards determining the length of the European conflict. If the Allies have the striking-power to carry out projected operations and establish that western front this summer, the war will be greatly shortened.

If cessation of production in any vital line at home right now should deprive the war fronts of supplies, then Hitler might get the year's respite which he has been hoping for to enable him to repair his damaged war-machine and get set for a defense calculated to produce a stalemate.

In short, as this column has remarked previously, the burden of this war rests very largely on the shoulders of the civilian workers at home. We can't pass the buck to the soldiers at the front, because they are helpless without equipment.

This is one case where the congregation has to do its own laboring and praying, and not leave everything to the overworked clergyman in his pulpit.

THE SECOND most important piece of news, and one closely interblocking with the first, seemed to be Stalin's renewed appeal for the opening of a western front by the Anglo-American Allies. The Soviet generalissimo, in his reply to the Allied messages on the anniversary of Hitler's attack on Russia declared:

"Victory will come all the sooner, of this I have no doubt, the sooner we strike our joint united blows against the enemy from east and from west."

At the same time Moscow issued a communique which said that "everything now depends upon the manner in which our Allies will exploit the favorable situation by creating a second front in Europe, as victory over Hitlerite Germany is impossible without a second front."

The communique added that to "miss the opportunity afforded by the favorable conditions now prevailing for the opening of a second front in 1943 would be a serious setback for the Allied cause.

That summation represents the view as I have found it among American and British military men, although it isn't yet clear just how far the Anglo-American Allies may find it feasible to go this summer.

It can be said that there still is a possibility of a wholesale invasion of the continent this year, if the Allies don't encounter any big hitch. Both Hitler and Mussolini are getting a powerful softening up, and the process is intensifying.

As things now stand it wouldn't be surprising to see an invasion of Sicily and Sardinia at any moment. Those plums seem about ripe for the plucking. Whether an assault on the Italian mainland or the Balkans will follow, remains to be seen but both are among the possibilities.

What Stalin is gunning for, of course, is an invasion of France across the English channel, so as to place the fuehrer squarely between two great armies, and he is very insistent.

There are no indications thus far that this isn't in the cards. The Anglo-American air fleets are doing a magnificent job of spade work over western Europe, and another few weeks of this might open the road for a landing.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Saturday, June 30, 1923.

Annual outing of employes of Barnes Manufacturing company was held at Cedar Point.

Mrs. Stanley Kelly, 26, died at General hospital following an operation.

American Cigar company girls won championship in Girls' Baseball league by defeating Westinghouse girls on Ohio Brass company diamond.

Harold M. Caldwell, of Yonkers, N. Y., was employed as Y. M. C. A. boys work secretary.

Jere Cave resigned position with telephone company to become sales manager of Mansfield Chevrolet agency.

Birthday party was given for Leola Oberlin at her home on Summit court.

Charles Bahl went to Culver, Ind., to attend summer term at military academy.

Judge and Mrs. Edwin Mansfield and daughter Margaret went to Lakeside to spend the summer.

Dave Boone Says:

HERBER HOOVER ought to know better than to offer any suggestions for handling the food problem. He's disqualified on at least four counts:

1—He's the only man in the world with the experience of handling a food problem in a World war.

2—He's never been a professor of anything.

3—He's never belonged to any queer political parties.

4—He's had many years training as a cabinet officer and four years as president of the United States.

* * *

Under present-day standards and practices that benches him as untrained, unfit and unqualified.

* * *

You ought to have more sense, Herb. Before you start suggesting things to do in the food crisis go out and get yourself some inexperience.

There's no chance of Washington paying any attention to Mr. Hoover, who handled the biggest food problem of the last World war with an ability that made his name a household word. Such action would be direct and sensible.

* * *

There are too many men around who don't know the first thing about food problems, waiting around for such a job, for Herb to stand even an outside chance.

Timely Editorial

Repeal or Enforce.

The government needs the money derived from sales of the annual $5 federal automobile use stamps. In wartime the government never has enough money, but one objection which car owners make to purchase of a new stamp on or before July 1, as required by law, deserves serious consideration.

They say—and the most casual observer can prove this to his own satisfaction — that hundreds of cars on the streets and in the parking lots of every city, have no use stamps affixed to the windshields. A few may have been lost or stolen, but in most cases the car owner never bought a stamp. He flouts the law with impunity.

This is obviously unfair. It breeds disrespect for law and invites more chiseling. When any government — especially the federal government—passes a law, it should provide machinery for adequate enforcement.—Toledo Blade.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

WELL, a lady reporter has us worried today with the observation that the pattern of the WAACS, WAVES, etc., may produce a postwar "standardized woman."

* * *

She hints darkly of women who will walk, talk, dress and think alike. And what is to become of romance then?

* * *

What is the use of dating a tender, tasty blond dish who dresses divinely and talks in a voice of liquid melody if all girls are cast in the same mold?

* * *

On the other hand, suppose they all wear flat heels, discuss Beethoven and smoke cigarets in long holders which stick in your eye?

* * *

Will they take a 16 or a 40? Will they let you sit around the house with your shoes off or make you wear a dinner jacket to family supper? Will they be like the girl you love (praise be) or like the other guy's girl (heaven forbid)?

* * *

If Uncle Delano and the National Resources planning board aren't doing anything else at the moment they might look into this. It's serious business.

Thought for the day: Don't let it happen here.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Joe Pew, GOP Boss, May Groom Justice Roberts for Presidency

WASHINGTON—Most important subterranean leak to come from Republican cloak-rooms of late is the decision of Philadelphia's powerful GOP Boss Joe Pew to groom Justice Owen J. Roberts of the U. S. Supreme Court for the presidency.

Pew is reported by close friends to have finally decided to throw his millions behind his fellow Philadelphian Roberts as the ideal choice for the Republican party and the only man who could defeat Roosevelt, should he run for a fourth term.

Pew, who controls the Sun Oil and Sun Ship millions, has not been renowned for his success as a political picker in the past. Nevertheless, his political influence in Pennsylvania—a highly important key state—is now greater than that of any other man, and his power inside GOP smoke-filled councils is not to be sneezed at.

Pew was not too enthusiastic a Willkie man at the last GOP convention in Philadelphia, and has not been since. However, his grooming of Justice Roberts, according to friends, is not aimed entirely at blocking Willkie.

He figures that the GOP convention is likely to reach a deadlock between Willkie and Dewey, and that a safe, sound middle-of-the-road candidate will then be needed to step in.

In the opinion of Joe Pew, Justice Roberts fills that role. He has supported the president's foreign policies, has cooperated with the White House in probing the Pearl Harbor scandal, and was not as much of a bitter-ender as other Republican Supreme Court justices in opposing New Deal philosophies. Roberts is also a forceful speaker, tall, handsome, and should be a good campaigner.

From a physical viewpoint his only handicap is his age.

World Peace Promoter.

JUSTICE ROBERTS has always suffered from a slight touch of "presidentitis" and was talked about as Republican candidate as far back as 1936. Recently he has been called to the White House for conferences about the idea of heading up a non-partisan commission which would begin now to study post-war peace.

The president's idea is to select a Republican to head this peace-planning group so that he could not be accused of playing politics; also so there would be Republican support for the peace treaty. The president considered Roberts the ideal man for this job, wanted him to help in heading off what befell Woodrow Wilson.

White House intimates expected this plan to go through some time ago. It may be, however, that Joe Pew's ambitions for Justice Roberts have sidetracked it. Obviously the justice could not afford to get himself into a position where he was serving the president and then running against him.

Henderson on the Air.

LEON HENDERSON, too tough ex-OPAdministrator who some people wish was back on the job, will go on the radio soon. Before his contract was signed, his program was offered to Columbia Broadcasting company, which, however, threw up its hands, flatly refused to sell Henderson any time on the air, even at the juicy price of around $3,000 per fifteen minutes.

"Too controversial," was Columbia's horrified reply.

Henderson has now signed a contract with a more liberal radio network, but later he bumped into William S. Paley, head of Columbia Broadmasting. Paley once had studied under Henderson when the ex-OPAdministrator was a professor at the University of Pennsylvania. So Paley undertook to give his former teacher some advice.

"Leon," advised purist Paley, "the thing for you to do is be absolutely non-controversial. Just read the news as it comes over the ticker. Don't comment on it. Don't inject your own personality. Just be a straight news commentator. You must avoid controversy."

"Thanks, pal," replied the man who has spent most of his life telling the public what he thinks in no uncertain terms. "I've signed up with another network which isn't scared of me. And, thank God, we still have newspapers in this country. They aren't afraid of controversy."

Good Neighbor.

MANY a state department official wishes we could fix up Argentina as neatly as Comrade Stalin thinks we can.

When Willkie was in Moscow, Stalin raised a question about Argentina, describing it as the Axis source of information about ship movements. He couldn't understand why such a condition should be allowed to exist.

"If you have so much power," Stalin told Willkie, "why don't you clean up the Argentine government, or take over the country—do something to turn the Axis out of there?"

Willkie found it somewhat difficult to explain that the Good Neighbor policy would prevent such interference, in time of war as in time of peace.

Note: State department experts expect that, despite the new Argentine government's reactionary attitude on domestic questions, it will be driven to break relations with the Axis, in order to get Lend-Lease supplies from the United States. This is what Latin generals want most.

Merry-Go-Round.

SECRETARY OF STATE Hull thinks there is too much talk and too many agencies dealing with post-war planning. He has one of his own. . . . Hull still smarts under Walter Lippmann's criticism of the state department's pro-Vichy policy in North Africa. . . . In Latin America, Vice President Wallace found that Spain's dictator Franco was most popular in countries where the church is strongest, as Ecuador and Peru. Peru's land-holding aristocracy can survive only with an authoritarian government like Franco's. . . . Senator "Happy" Chandler of Kentucky says it's as futile to try to persuade him that Japanese-Americans can be loyal to the United States as to persuade him that "General Bob Lee and all our boys shouldn't have cleaned up on the No'therers."

Farmer's Diary

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

"TUT-TUT!"

"Dear Mr. Byers:

"You make the farm sound too nice! I always read the piece you write in our daily paper, and then get me a pinch of salt. Believe me, I could tell you some instances to prove that farmers are not so noble as they are willing to have you make out.

"Not mentioning any names — nor even my own—I can think of one member of the 'agricultural profession' in our neighborhood who takes everything he can get his fingers on. None of his neighbors dare leave a shovel or fork or ax or chain along a fencerow or it comes up missing. I know another who 'drives' everybody around him by pretending to have bad nerves. He pinches every nickel until the buffalo is shedding. His boys leave home and his poor wife wears the same hat and coat from one year's end to another.

"You write about the little singing birds and the beautiful growing corn and the bright moonlight . . . tut! Why don't you describe the bunch of sweaty, dirty men who throng into a farmer's dining room and wolf down everything that's good to eat without any manners or appreciation? And such table talk . . . a lady wonders what the world is coming to! Even the more educated farmers speak openly of such things as artificial insemination—as though such perversion would be a good thing for the dairy business. Nobody ever got far by trying to improve on Nature!

"I suppose you really think that farmers are the "salt of the earth." Well, if the farm is such a wonderful place to live, why don't they stay there? Why are half the new workers in the war plant near where I live, right off of farms?

You overlook the animalistic and the sordid. You leave out all the stink. I grew up on a farm—and got away. I'm glad I did. I saw my nearest and dearest ones nearly kill themselves working, with only a bare living to show for it . . . I'd like to meet your wife and family . . .

"This letter will make you mad. That will be okay by me. If it wakes you up to how some readers feel, it may do you good.

"Yours sincerely,

A REGULAR READER."

ERNIE PYLE

Roving Reporter

Here's An Answer to All the Letters That Readers Have Sent to Ernie Pyle.

NORTH AFRICA—(By Wireless)—The letters you readers write to me here in Africa begin with everything from "Dear Sir" to "Hi, Ernie." Any columnist can expect a nasty letter once in a while, but you have yet to write me a nasty one. Maybe you're just saving up to slaughter me all at once.

Many of you write long letters about how things and people are in your home town, just as though that were my home town too. I like that. Your letters have kept me pretty well informed on the progress of rationing, shortages, and public spirit at home.

Most of you write from your own goodness just to tell me you enjoy the column. A few of you make unusual requests such as asking for an Algerian postcard to add to your collection, or a camel bell, or a dissertation on the ancestry of Tunisia's black and white sheep. Unfortunately there has not been time for me to comply with these requests.

A number of you have asked me to send you the names of soldiers who get no mail so you can correspond with them. I shall have to fail you there too, for I have never known a soldier who didn't get any mail, and I can't go around asking each man if he'd like somebody to write him.

ABOUT a third of you ask me to look up your sons and husbands and brothers and say hello. Once in a while I just happen to be near the outfit you mention when your letter comes, but those are just coincidences. Ordinarily it would be like writing to me in New York and asking me to look up somebody in Chicago, for our army has grown to be that big over here.

Many of you have asked me to look up sons you haven't heard from for a couple of months and see if they are all right. I can't do that either, but I can tell you this—no news from your boy (dissatisfying though that may be) is almost always good news.

For if anything serious has happened to him you'll hear about it from the war department long before you would have begun worrying because of the lack of letters.

The absence of letters is usually due either to a jam in the mail service or to the fact that he just isn't writing as often as he should.

A small percentage of my letters are from families who have already received the dreaded telegram from the war department. Those telegrams are stark, blank things—they deal you the blow and leave you hanging in thin air. Your letters ask me to tary to find out all the little details of how it happened and let you know. How I wish that it were possible. Those are the letters I would give anything to comply with. Those of you who have lost close ones seem to write so beautifully, so resignedly, and so patiently, that it is doubly hard on me to be forced to do nothing about your letters.

At first I did try, and I was able (largely by the freak circumstance of having been there at the time) to send details home to a few parents. But now those letters have grown to the point where I dare not even try any more to get the details of the death or capture of any one person. It requires days of tracing down through headquarters records, and then either a personal trip hundreds of miles or a long letter to his commanding officer or his buddies.

All this would be a full-time job, not for just one man but for a whole staff. It would require a full-fledged information bureau.

I know how you feel—you think to yourself, "But surely he could find time to answer just this one little request." That's true. I could find time to do one. But it isn't just one. There are scores of them. If I were to obey my impulse and carry out these touching requests I would have to stop writing the column altogether.

NO MATTER how it may seem to you who read our stuff, a war correspondent works mighty hard. We all do. Spare time is something that has ceased to exist for us. The war department accredits us here to write for you publicly, and the minute we stopped doing that we would be sent home.

That's the way it is. And so this column is addressed to all of you readers who have written me, and even to a large percentage of my personal friends back home, to tell you why I can't answer your letters individually, and yet to thank you from the bottom of my heart for writing them.

CHAPTER XII

Elder saw Ensign O'Reilly mop e sweat from his brow—saw him mmon Stanislawski to the plat-rm and unburden his soul on e subject of playing pitch-and-ss with high explosive ammu-tion.

"Hunh-hunh!" chuckled the ipper, delightedly. "Looks like ir Merchant Marine lads are a t too fast for the Navy, Mr. ssi. Well, now, let's just have little private drill of our own!" e entered the wheelhouse and oke into the engine room tele-one. "Give her all she's got, r, Clark!" he ordered. "Crowd it 'er!"

He felt the pulse-beat of the gines quicken beneath his feet felt the vessel's hull tremble as e accelerated her pace through e water. Heavily loaded as she as, her bow lifted but slightly it met the easy surge; rather, e plowed straight through, iffeting out the spray in white eets which glowed in the sun-ine with all the colors of the inbow. Glancing over the side id apparently satisfied that the ip was doing her maximum, El-r turned to the helmsman. "All ght—let me take her for a inute!" he said, grasping the heel. Abruptly, almost brutally, gave her full right rudder. e steering-engine chattered and r stern slewed sideways, piling the water against her port iarter. She heeled over and ent into the turn. He crowded r around the full three hundred id sixty degrees, her churned-up ake leaving a milky circle be-nd her. Just as her bow unged through it at the join-g, Elder spun the wheel in the posite direction and around she ent to the left. He held her in e circle until the wake again ossed itself, leaving a great ite figure eight inscribed upon e surface of the sea. Nodding satisfaction, he put the ship ck on the course and relin-uished the wheel to the helms-an. "She handles as sweet as dinghy!" he announced, proudly.

Aft on the gun platform, Gun-r's Mate 2nd Class Hyman oldberg looked back at the wake d then turned to Seaman 1st ass Alonzo Fitch. "What the ll's he trying to do?" he de-anded. "—invent a new design r a pretzel or something?"

"Reckon he thinks he's ridin' a rodeo," opined Fitch, who iled from the Panhandle of xas.

Just then, Captain Elder grasp-the handle of the engine room legraph and jammed it from JLL AHEAD to FULL ASTERN. efore the bell had ceased clang-g below, the Merchant Mariner as trembling like a leaf as her ll six thousand horsepower bat-tled against her t .rific forward momentum. Her lashing propeller blades heaved up torrents of suds; she creaked and groaned and rattled under the strain. Then the great blades bit into solid water and lo, she was moving backwards!

"Fine! Fine!" beamed Captain Elder, shoving the telegraph to STOP, then to SLOW AHEAD, and finally to FULL AHEAD. "Now, I'll just try her on some zig-zags!"

At supper that evening, after the Merchant Mariner's manoueverability had been admiringly discussed by those of her officers who were present, Ensign O'Reilly cleared his throat.

"Yes, she seems to have what it takes, all right!" he conceded, hesitantly. "The only thing, is, er . . . Well, frankly, Captain, that first sudden change in course gave us quite a start! For a minute, we didn't know whether you were dodging a submarine, or what! I wonder if in the future you'd mind just phoning back to warn us?"

Captain Elder gave him a withering look. "Next time or any time I jam this ship off its course, it won't be to dodge a submarine—get that, Mister? And as for me phoning you . . . Well, I don't even know your number, dearie!"

From behind the Captain's shoulder, Mr. Rossi winked at Ensign O'Reilly. Ensign O'Reilly grinned and returned the wink.

But next day at noon, as the skipper, Mr. Blair and Cadet Parker were shooting the sun, there came a shattering explosion which shook the ship and nearly caused Elder to drop his sextant. He dashed into the wing of the bridge just as the gun cut loose a second WHAM! Half a mile astern he saw a dark floating object; suddenly it soared into the air at the top of a spouting white column of water, for all the world like one of the little silver balls in a Coney Island shooting gallery. In the instant it hung there, he recognized it as an empty oil drum; then it fell, and almost as it splashed the surface, a third shell struck it direct and blew it to smithereens.

"Gosh! Some shooting!" cried Mr. Blair.

"I'll say!" agreed John Parker. "Those boys are good!"

"M'mph!" grunted Captain Elder, his brow beetling and his neck flushed a deep red. He strode to the phone and flipped the dial to the gun platform number. "Hey, O'Reilly!" he roared into the transmitter. "Next time you go monkeying with that gun, notify me in advance! Understand?"

"You've got the wrong number, dearie! Excuse it, puh-lease!" a honeyed voice came back to him.

First a big, long-range Canadian flying boat came lumbering out of the haze, circled the Merchant Mariner twice and then, apparently satisfied, droned off about its business. It was followed at intervals by smaller seaplanes and land-cased aircraft. An ancient ex-American destroyer and a corvette appeared for a closer inspection. Finlly, with the gray-green coastline showing above the horizon, the pilot came aboard to take her in through the mine-fields.

The vessel waited for the submarine guard-net to open and then steamed slowly into the entrance of that great marine ampitheater which is Halifax harbor. Off to the left, dominated by the old stone Citadel, was the thriving, teeming town, its wharves piled high with munitions and the railway sidings behind them crowded with puffing, rumbling freight trains. But it was not the town which compelled attention, it was the harbor—the harbor, with its scores of ships, its endless rows of ships—its vast gray armada of tankers, freighters, transports; of war of every type from humble mine-sweepers to mighty battlewagons, brave with the flags of all the United Nations. Beholding them, one felt that Victory itself lay waiting here on the deep, placid waters of this drowned valley between the Nova Scotian hills. Waiting, yes, but straining at its anchor . . .

Mr. Rossi, at his station on the fo'c'sle head, viewed the spectacle through narrowed eyes. "Ships!" he muttered, his thin lips drawn back from his teeth. "Ships!" He pounded his fist upon the windlass. "Ships! Ships! SHIPS! . . . Well, by God, it's by ships that we'll lick 'em! Yes—By God, by men and by ships! That's how we'll win the war!"

A speedboat put off from shore, came squattering between the rows of ships like a taxicab passing through city streets, and brought up at the Merchant Mariner's ladder. An American naval lieutenant came up the side and was ushered to Captain Elder on the bridge.

"Sir," he said. The Convoy Commander presents his compliments and requests that you accompany me ashore."

"Ashore? Why, shucks—I've been all over Halifax a hundred times!"

"No doubt, sir! But you're the last ship in, and the conference is scheduled in half an hour."

"Oh, a chinfest, eh? Well, all right, Mister—lead the way!"

Optical Glass For Services In Mass Production

HACKENSACK, N. J.—(U.P.)—Several hundred newly trained men and women who never saw an optical glass factory until two years ago are at work 'round the clock in a converted roller skating rink here, setting new production records in a field hitherto a Nazi monoply—manufacture of lenses and prisms that are the eyes of fighting men on world battlefronts.

Production in the ex-roller rink started literally from scratch in November, 1941, tripled the first year and now is 10 times pre-Pearl Harbor levels, according to Kenneth McGrath, general manager of the Eclipse-Pioneer division of Bendix Aviation Corp.

The company launched its own optics manufacturing project to insure a steady flow of the thousands of lenses and prisms used in the scientific aircraft devices it develops and mass-produces for the armed forces. For example, McGrath pointed out, a driftmeter, which helps guide bombers over Axis targets, requires lenses composed of 20 pieces of glass and 6 prisms.

Estimates of the population of the United States in 1960 range from 140,000,000 to 150,000,000 persons.

(LIQUID MUSTARD AND LEWISITE)
Clorox, familiar friend to millions of housewives, is recognized by scientists as a most effective agent for neutralizing liquid mustard and Lewisite war gases.
Numerous local defense councils and individuals, following the recommendations of war gas authorities, have included Clorox among their first aid supplies. The same qualities that have made Clorox America's favorite bleach and household disinfectant enable it to neutralize liquid mustard and Lewisite war gases. Clorox is ultra-refined, free from caustic, permitting fast, efficient action . . . it has uniform high strength. Clorox is always pure, safe and dependable.
While it is hoped that the occasion will never arise whereby Clorox is needed for fighting war gas, this advertisement is published as a public service to familiarize the American people with the protective values of Clorox in case of emergency.
Recommended Treatment with Clorox
If liquid gas has splashed on skin quickly blot up all liquid possible with absorbent material. Then gently bathe affected area with undiluted Clorox to neutralize remaining liquid gas; rinse. Take shower, lathering thoroughly. Dry skin by patting.

NANCY BUSHNELL HAS TUESDAY WEDDING

Rev. Glenn L. Lewis Reads Nuptial Service Before Altar of Episcopal Church; Couple Plans Wedding Trip to New York.

MISS NANCY JEAN BUSHNELL became the bride of Frederick Lyman Talcott, jr., in a lovely ceremony Tuesday night in the Episcopal chapel. Rev. Glenn L. Lewis read the ceremony before an altar banked with palms and ferns. The two glass vases of white gladioli, gypsophila and Regal lilies matched the glass candelabra in which were lighted tapers. Gypsophila also was used in decorating the chancel. Two tall beauty baskets of the same flowers banking the altar were placed toward the rear of the church and completed the decorations.

The bride wore a street length suit of dusty pink. Her small hat was trimmed with wine roses and tiny dusty pink flowers. She carried a round hand bouquet of better time roses and Briarcliffe roses with gypsophila tied with matching ribbons.

Miss Marjorie M. Bushnell of Canton, sister of the bride, wore a moss green suit and carried a bouquet of pale pink tiny sweetheart roses and pale yellow roses with pale blue delphinium matching the apple blossoms which she wore in her hair

With Mrs. Bushnell's ensemble she wore a gardenia corsage with green foliage background.

O. H. Yoxsimer, 599 Coleman road, served as best man. Usher was Harry Wineland.

The bride wore her wedding costume when the couple left for a wedding trip to New York City After July 8 they will be at home at 174 Vennum avenue.

The former Miss Bushnell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs Robert M. Bushnell of Canton She is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school She is employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company Mr Talcott is the son of Mrs Dora G Talcott, New York City, and Frederick L Talcott, sr, of Lancaster, N H. He attended Stevens Institute of Technology at Hoboken, N. J He is now employed as an engineer at Westinghouse.

Tourist Club Members Have Annual Picnic

Mrs. Harry Bowers entertained members of the Tourist club at her cabin on Park avenue west road Tuesday for the annual picnic of the club.

Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock with arrangements in charge of Mrs. Bowers, Mrs. C. V. Gates, Mrs. Herman Gilbert and Mrs. Grant Ward. Guests were seated at a T-shaped table which was centered with an arrangement of daisies and lychnis.

Twenty-four members and three guests were present. The guests were Mrs. R. R. Clark, Mrs. W. W. Crouch, and Mrs. M. R. Kerr.

Mrs. Dimon Herring presided during the brief business session at which time Mrs. Charles Abele was elected to membership. A summary of the program for the coming year was given by the program chairman, Mrs. Charles Ray.

Mrs. Grant Ward, the club representative and worker for the Mansfield dental clinic, reported on the activities and progress of the civic project.

Study meetings of the club will be resumed in the fall with the first session in October at the Women's Club

COUPLE WEDS IN JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

Miss Elizabeth Bay Becomes Bride of Lieut. C. N. McGrew In Double Ring Ceremony Read By Dr. Albert Kissling.

IN A LOVELY double ring ceremony performed Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Newton Cooke, Jacksonville, Fla., Miss Elizabeth Bay, 133 Helen avenue, became the bride of Lieut. Chester N. McGrew of Kent.

The nuptial service was read by Dr. Albert Kissling, pastor of the Riverside Presbyterian church in Jacksonville, before the fireplace in the home of the Cookes who are friends of the bride's family. The fireplace was banked with foliage and pink crepe myrtle. Lovely floral arrangements were used throughout the room.

For her wedding the former Miss Bay chose a light blue silk dress with white accessories. Her shoulder corsage was composed of orchid and white flowers matching the veiling on her hat.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was given by Mr. and Mrs. Cooke for a small group of close friends of the couple. After the reception the newlyweds left for a short wedding trip to Ponte Verda Beach, Fla.

The new Mrs. McGrew is the daughter of Rev and Mrs. Howard Bay of Cumberland. She received an A.B. degree from Muskingum college, and her B S degree from Ohio State university. For the past two years she has been county home demonstration agent in Mansfield

Lieut. McGrew, son of Mr and Mrs. A. N. McGrew of Kent, is a graduate of Ohio State university where he was a member of Alpha Zeta, agriculture fraternity. Before entering the service he was county 4-H club agent in Medina. At the present he is stationed at Camp Blanding.

Mrs. McGrew will rejoin her husband in Gainesville, Fla., after a brief visit in Ohio.
